Progress Reported on Talks Concerning New Fire House

A joint meeting of Township Committee, Borough Council and the Board of Education last Tuesday night on where a new firehouse should be located, provided an exchange of information for those officials who had not been part of the small committee that had been discussing several sites in the Valley Road/Witherspoon Street area.

It was also an opportunity for public comment and was attended by members of the Fire Department, the Recreation Department and neighbors who are uneasy about adding a fire house to all the other activities in their area. No decision was made by any of the official bodies present, and Township Mayor Kate Litvack said at the outset that it was "very unlikely" a decision would be made before the end of June. She invited anyone who had other thoughts on the matter following the meeting to make them known in the days to come.

However, there has been progress in reaching conclusions on some elements that were previously undecided. For instance, it was stated at the meeting and in the handout that the new firehouse will be designed to accomodate four pieces of equipment and will have three bays. At one point a five-bay firehouse had been contemplated.

And although Mayor Litvack says that there is not complete agreement in all three entities on locating the firehouse adjacent to the former Valley Road school building that now houses the township municipal offices, there are indications that this is the site of choice.

The handout lists five reasons why the Valley Road building site is the best from the standpoint of safety, an issue also addressed by Township traffic consultant Gary Davies. Comparing the Terhune Road/public works site to the site next to the Valley Road building, Mr. Davies said that the sight distances were better on Witherspoon Street, allowing cars to see a fire truck coming out and allowing the fire truck driver to see oncoming cars.

Furthermore there was enough room on this site to provide an apron large enough to accomodate the whole fire engine, again providing a full range of visibility. "Frankly, I'd rather be dealing with a fire house with all its bells and whistles rather than an office at this site," Mr. Davies said. "A very safe operation can be provided at this site, and I recommend it be adopted."

Sewer Authority Won't Get Into Planning Despite Requests from Princeton's Mayors

Borough Mayor Barbara Sigmund and Township Mayor Kate Litvack came before the May meeting of the Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority last week to ask SBRSA to be an instrument of growth management in the area.

Specifically, Mayor Sigmund asked the SBRSA to consider phasing any expansion of the River Road sewerage treatment plant above its present capacity of 10.8 million gallons per day. The plant is licensed by the State Department of Environmental Protection for 10 million gallons per day (mgpd) but has filed an application for permission to go up to the 10.8 mgpd for which it was designed.

The SBRSA is also considering expanding the plant to 13.6 mgpd in response to existing and future needs as expressed in the "208" wastewater treatment plans filed by its member municipalities. The number 208 refers to the section in the federal Clean Water Act which requires municipalities to define areas which should and should not be sewered.

Mayor Sigmund requested that the Sewerage Authority phase in expansion of the River Road treatment plant in order to allow municipalities an opportunity to improve other aspects of the infrastructure, such as roads, to handle growth in the area. In addition, she asked the SBRSA to convene a meeting of mayors, zoning officers and planning officials of its member municipalities "to talk about phasing and prioritizing growth as a

Police Raise Objections To Civil Rights Brochure

Objections to a proposed Joint Civil Rights Commission police-community relations brochure, which outlines police procedures and citizens' rights, were voiced at last week's meeting of Borough Council.

Borough Attorney Michael Herbert, speaking for Police Chief Michael Carnevale, who was not present, said the brochure was phrased as if to give advice to potential criminal suspects. "I get the impression it might be put out by the public defender's office."

The brochure was an outgrowth of meetings held nearly two years ago between police, members of the Princeton community,

Annual P-Rade Tops List Of Reunions Activities Offered This Weekend

For Princeton residents who are not Princeton University graduates, the annual P-Rade, the march of orange and black costumed alumni/nae down Prospect Avenue, is the one Reunions activity they are likely to attend.

However, Reunions Weekend offers a host of other activities which are open to the general public, as well as many that are not. In general, alumni-faculty forums are open, along with tours of the campus and its special features and facilities, while gatherings of alumni who shared a common interest in, say, engineering or Princeton-in-Asia are not.

Sports events, such as alumni vs. varsity baseball and lacrosse, are open to the public, as well as cultural events taking place throughout the weekend. The Princeton Weekly Bulletin, available at the Communications/Publications Office on the second whole in the region so you don't facilitate more development than can be handled."

The Borough mayor said she had come to address the planned expansion versus the lack of roads. She pointed out that the State Department of Transportation (DOT) has identified 70 road segments in seven municipalities that must be widened or built so that the widening of Route 1 itself can function properly. None of these road improvements are currently on any of the capital improvement plans of the municipalities, she said.

She asked the Authority to take into consideration the 35 million square feet of office and commercial development that have been proposed between South Brunswick and Lawrence Township, without the road system to accommodate that development. In addition, 26,000 new housing units are planned between North Brunswick and Lawrence Township, she said.

"The softness in the real estate market is not stopping it, the glut of office space is not stopping it, nothing will stop it if the municipalities do not play their part," the Borough mayor said.

Mayor Sigmund said she realized that the SBRSA has a statutory mandate to file for expansion approval when it reaches 90 percent capacity. Although willing to let the SBRSA expand by 800,000 additional gallons per day to its technical capacity, she asked that future expansion be added incrementally to match road capacity with sewer capacity.

Mayor Litvack spoke to two specific sewer expansion requests, one from St. Joseph's Seminary for 20,000 gpd, which was approved by the SBRSA at its April meeting, and the other for the extension of the sewer service area to include the Princeton Nurseries lands. The Princeton Regional Planning Board and Township Committee wrote the SBRSA asking that neither request be approved without the consideration of input from planning boards on the impact of expanding the sewer service area.

SBRSA Chairman Ezra Bixby told Mayor Sigmund he would be willing to convene a meeting "for our clients to talk to each other, but such a meeting cannot, will not, shall not land us in the planning business. For one thing it is illegal, for another, we have enough problems." Mr. Bixby said the only role the SBRSA could play in a meeting such as Mayor Sigmund was suggesting would be to make people aware of certain "facts of life" about sewers.

He said the master plans and zoning plans of the Authority's member municipalities carve out "208" areas that are to be sewered. "We are bound to use those numbers," he said. "We are victims of the land use plans of our constituents."

Mayor Sigmund countered that the "208 plans were developed by each municipality "in isolation" from each other. "If each of us had known what the other was going to do...," she said, implying that each might not have zoned for as much development. "We're coming to our senses, and it's not too late to phase our road improvements with your sewer expansion."

Town Topics is continuing to send return post cards to those residents who receive the paper free of charge by mail, asking for their names and addresses and a signature indicating they want to continue to receive the paper. This survey is required by the U.S. Post Office.

Between now and the end of June, all those receiving the paper by mail will receive a card. If you miss the week it is inserted in your paper, please give us a call, and you will receive another.

Residents who receive their newspapers through one of the three delivery services in town, Northside, Tiger or Princeton-Windsor, or by individual carrier, will be solicited in the fall.

Town Topics appreciates the high rate of return of the post cards, which is running well above the required minimum. Thank you for your support in what is a fairly time-consuming and costly venture to fulfill this postal requirement.

She acknowledged that there might be financial reasons for building the additional 3.6 mgpd capacity all at once, but pleaded for "incremental" phasing, say to 11 mgpd initially. "That would be like adding one room a year to your town hall," said Frederick Rasweiler, the Hopewell Township representative, "and the cost to the region would be affected."

Other members spoke of the SBRSA's legal obligation to grant a properly documented request for service from its members. "It's the service agreement that dictates what we do," said Robert Breen, Princeton Borough representative. "I don't see anything in the service agreement that says you can't phase it in," Mayor Sigmund persisted.

As part of her presentation, Mayor Litvack asked the SBRSA to give priority to Mt. Laurel projects. After the mayors left, the SBRSA took up business at hand, a major item being to approve nine Township projects and one located in Princeton Borough. Among the Township projects were all the Mt. Laurel housing sites which had not received earlier SBRSA sewer extension approval. The two already approved are the Griggs Farm project and the expansion of the University graduate housing in the Butler tract.

Those before the SBRSA last week included the Calton Homes White Farm development; a pumping station for the White Farm development; Ettl Farm, phase I and II; Princeton Day School/Cadle tract; the Arcaro tract; and West Drive — all Mt. Laurel sites, or sites which are expected to contribute material-

Ground-Breaking Held For New Sewer Line

The Sewer Operating Committee held a ground-breaking ceremony last Thursday for the replacement of 3.5 miles of sewer trunk line in the eastern section of Princeton.

The ceremony was attended by SOC members and staff, and the mayors and municipal officials of the Borough and Township. On hand, too, were representatives from Clinton Bogert, the engineering firm that has studied the system and designed the rehabilitation project in its several phases; from Elam and Popoff of Glen Rock, the firm that designed the sewer trunk replacement; and and from Cruz Construction of Holmdel, the firm that has been awarded a contract to replace the eastern trunk.

Replacement of 7½ miles of sewer trunk line in the eastern and western sections of town, plus additional repair of the collection system will cost about $12 million. The ground-breaking ceremony took place under a large sign announcing that the project is authorized by the State Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) with monies from the New Jersey Wastewater Treatment Fund.

Application to this fund for a low-interest loan delayed ground-breaking for one full year, but the loan itself is expected to save the two municipalities close to $1 million in interest over what they would have had to pay by issuing municipal bonds.

Under the federal Clean Water Act, municipalities throughout the State are obligated to build sewer treatment facilities and to eliminate sewer overflows from leaking collection systems by July 1, 1988, or face stiff penalities. Princeton has negotiated an agreement with the DEP extending this deadline to 1990.

Those who spoke at the ground-breaking ceremony stressed the long involvement of many municipal officials over the years — since the mid-1970s, when the Brokaw Report, named after a former Borough engineer, was issued and the first repairs to the collection system were begun. Borough Mayor Barbara Sigmund called the history "a cautionary tale" involving federal, State and municipal government, and she reminded her listeners of how Princeton "stood in line" for federal funds for the expensive repairs only to have funds for collection system repairs withdrawn when President Reagan came into office.

"So it was back to the drawing boards," Mayor Sigmund said, and an effort to come up with a "responsible program" and a means of paying for it. Some of the money for repairs has come from a revolving sewer trust fund to which developers contribute. Some expenditures related to sewer repair have been in the capital and operating budgets of the SOC and thus are paid for by sewer users.

Preliminary groundwork in preparation for the eastern trunk line replacement began in early April on River Road. The contractor has been given 350 calendar days to complete the project. Construction will proceed up Princeton-Kingston Road during the summer months and then along Harry's Brook at Poe Road to Harrison Street near Hamilton Avenue. Actual pipe-laying is expected to be completed by January, with restoration to private property to be completed in April, 1989.

Brad Dallam, an inspector for Elam and Popoff, and Ken Henry, project engineer, will be in residence in a construction trailer on River Road throughout the project. They are representing the Township's in-

Peter Vollmer, the job superintendent for Cruz Construction, will also be available on a daily basis. Meanwhile, work continues by Fred A. Cook Jr. on a contract to undertake chemical grouting of some 43,000 lineal feet of sewer pipeline in the collection system. This contract will repair the leaks in one-third of the system, as identified by earlier Clinton Bogert studies. The remaining two-thirds of the system has yet to be studied, but monies are available for the study, according to Martin Doward, SOC manager.

Meanwhile, too, the SOC is awaiting approval from the DEP of its drawings and specifications for replacement of four miles of the western trunk line. DEP approval is required before the SOC can bid out the work.

Meeting on Sidewalks Set for Friday at 5 p.m.

An open public meeting to discuss the design of the new Nassau Street sidewalks has been scheduled for Friday at 5 p.m. at Borough Hall. Mayor and Council are particularly anxious that the Nassau Street property owners attend the meeting, and they are being contacted by phone. The property owners will be assessed half the cost of the project, currently budgeted at $600,000.

In an effort to speed up the decision on which paving would be best, Mayor and Council last week requested that two possibilities be sent out for design and bid. These are a bluestone paving and a concrete paving with bluestone trim.

The bluestone (also called flagstone) would probably be placed in a 12- or 15-foot wide strip down the length of Nassau Street, from Tiger Park to VanDeventer Avenue. It would most likely be in a random design, and be surrounded by concrete. Estimated cost is $270,000 to $320,000.

This was the material preferred by most people who have been involved in the selection process, said Mayor Sigmund.

The concrete, which would probably be in a greyish tone, would be trimmed with narrow bands of bluestone. Estimated cost for the predominantly concrete sidewalk is $150,000 to $190,000. The amount allocated for the paving in the budget is $220,000.

Councilwoman Jane Terpstra suggested that the use of the more expensive pavement would not necessarily put the project over budget as long as such elements as street furniture and planters were left out of the streetscape, at least for this year.

The design and bid will be done through Fellows, Read, the firm selected by Mayor and Council to redesign the sidewalks.

Councilman Mark Freda, a member of the Public Works Committee, was insistent that this Friday meeting be called. "Whatever we do," he said at last week's Borough Council meeting, "we've got to do soon. We're now three weeks behind schedule."

Reaction Here Varies On Student Sentences

Borough Judge Russell W. Annich Jr. last week sentenced two officers of the Charter Club, charged with serving liquor to minors, to 30 days in jail, and fined each $500. Reactions to Judge Annich's decision were varied.

Kim Otis, attorney for the two defendants, Kenneth Simpler, 20, president of the club, and Lisa Napolitano, 21, the club's social chairperson, commented that he had never been so shocked or dismayed in his entire legal career. "The sentencing is totally excessive and improper," he said. Mr. Otis immediately filed appeals and said he anticipates it will take three months before they are heard in State Superior Court in Trenton.

Borough prosecutor Michael Barrett said that he was satisfied with Judge Annich's decision.

In a statement issued the same day, Princeton University President Harold T. Shapiro said that he was shocked by the jail sentences. "While the incidents...are certainly serious in nature, the penalty seems to me clearly disproportionate and excessive," President Shapiro observed.

State Education Commissioner Saul Cooperman commented that he felt the sentences were appropriate. Capt. Thomas Michaud of the Borough Police Department, which brought the charges against the two defendants and four other club officers following excessive student drinking during sign-in night February 6, said that the police would have no comment. "We don't want to get into that," he said.

The sentencing last Wednesday in Borough Hall drew extensive coverage from area newspaper reporters and television crews, including a front page article in the New York Times.

Both Ms. Napolitano and Mr. Simpler faced a maximum of six months in jail and a $1,000 fine. If their appeals are turned down in court, Ms. Napolitano will serve her 30-day sentence in the Mercer County Detention Center, and Mr. Simpler will serve his in the County Correction Center.

Judge Annich cited the magnitude of the drinking incident that sent six students, including one in a coma, to the Princeton Medical Center for treatment for alcohol poisoning, and 39 more to the University infirmary for treatment for intoxication, as the reason for his sentencing. Said he, "I am not aware of a similar incident that has produced as many casualties. It is a violation of the law." He dismissed lesser punishments of probation and community service as inappropriate.

Earlier, in a separate trial, Mr. Barrett withdrew the charge of maintaining a nuisance which had been lodged by Borough police against the Cloister Inn. His attempt to have the charge switched from one statute subcode to another was denied by Judge Annich. This week, however, Capt. Michaud indicated that police intend to bring new charges against the club.

Last week, Judge Annich had dismissed a similiar charge against the Charter Club.

In addition to the sentences to Ms. Napolitano and Mr. Simpler, Judge Annich dismissed charges against two officers of Cloister Inn, Jay Weiss and Kristin Seymour, after Mr. Barrett had determined that there was insufficient evidence.

A fifth student, James Martin, social chairman of Cloister Inn, had plea-bargained earlier in the month by pleading guilty to a lesser charge to avoid a possible jail sentence. He has not been sentenced.

Throughout the hearing, Mr. Otis insisted that the two defendants had been singled out merely because they were club officers and not because they had planned any drinking activities. He scored what he termed the "hypocrisy" of sentencing decent students.

Before handing down his sentence, Judge Annich had commented that he did not want it said that his court had viewed the incident as "an undergraduate frolic that got out of hand." Ms. Napolitano wept and Mr. Simpler buried his face in his hands, as Judge Annich accused them of not having the guts to stop new club members from drinking themselves sick.

$600 in Cash Is Stolen From Leigh Ave. Home

Between 10 Saturday morning when a Leigh Avenue resident left her home and 1:30 in the afternoon when she returned, someone entered without force and stole $600 she had hidden in the house. Also taken were traveler's checks worth $3,000 to $4,000.

Ptl. Mark Emann, who investigated, found that the front door did not latch properly. There were no signs of ransacking and nothing else was taken.

The same day, a $300 Canon camera, a $120 Sony Walkman and a cassette tape were stolen from a student's room in Brown Hall on the University campus. The items were taken from a desk drawer.

The victim told police that when she left her room at 10:30 a.m. there were a number of roommates and friends of her roomates still in the room; when she returned six hours later, she found no one in the room and the door ajar.

Crack Violation Stems From Wrong-Way Charge

Driving the wrong way on a one-way Palmer Square street Sunday led to police charges of crack possession for the two occupants of a 1979 Chevrolet.

After Borough police stopped the car at 2:15 in the afteroon for the motor vehicle violation, they became suspicious that the car might have been stolen, when the two occupants were unable to produce proper registration identification. A look-up revealed that the car had been stolen two days previously in Bristol, Pa. Both occupants were charged with possession of a stolen vehicle.

When police also found a quantity of crack in a plastic bag in the car, they charged Junior Fraser, 22, of Trenton, and a 17-year-old Trenton juvenile with possession of cocaine. Police described the amount of the drug seized as not large and for personal use.

Fraser was later released with a summons, pending a probable cause hearing before a Grand Jury. The juvenile will be heard in juvenile court.

Police: We Have Suspect In Criminal Michief Cases

"We think we know his identity. We have a suspect," said Capt. Thomas Michaud this week, after he reported two acts of criminal mischief on successive days last week.

On Friday afternoon, a white male in his late 20's had asked for change at the kiosk newsstand on Palmer Square when he suddenly erupted into an unexplained tirade, said Capt. Michaud. After the suspect first slammed a candy bar on the cash register, he reached over,

The next morning at 11:30, the same suspect entered nearby Burger King on Nassau Street and again threw a tantrum in the customer area, Capt. Michaud said.

The suspect struck a large, two-foot by ten-foot pane of glass in the foyer with his hand, cracking it and causing damage estimated at a couple of hundred dollars.

He is further described as 5-7 to 5-8 inches tall, slightly built, with brown hair, and wearing glasses.

$395 Missing from Purse In Nassau Hall Theft

Early last week, a thief entered an office in Nassau Hall on the University campus and removed $395 from a purse left in a desk drawer. Police identified the victim as a resident of Langhorne, Pa.

In another of several campus thefts last week, a student was moving his belongings out of Foulke Hall Sunday afternoon, when he left for a few minutes. Time enough for someone to take his AM-FM dual cassette stereo valued at $400.

Early Sunday morning, a student left his work station at the University's Computer Center off Prospect Avenue to visit the lounge. When he returned at 3:30, he discovered that his wallet had been removed from his duffel bag. He lost $20 and credit cards but the thief left the wallet behind.

There were three thefts in the men's locker room at Dillon Gym.

On Friday, an employee locked his wallet in his locker. Somehow, his locker was opened while he was away and the victim's wallet containing $6 and credit cards was stolen.

The following day, an employee of the Theological Seminary reported the theft of a $150 leather book bag from his unlocked locker. Inside were keys, an address book, credit cards and a black wallet containing no cash. Total loss: $200.

A Township resident returned less than an hour after he had placed his clothing in a Dillon locker Friday morning to find the lock still locked on the locker door, but the door somehow jammed shut. After opening the door with the aid of an employee, the victim discovered his trousers missing.

He looked in several adjoining lockers and found them, minus $25 from one of the pockets.

Sighted Chair, Seized Same. A resident of Nassau Street in the process of moving to a nearby apartment Saturday evening, left a green antique chair sitting on the sidewalk for five minutes while she went inside to gather more of her possessions. When she returned the $250 chair was gone.

A Cranbury resident was the victim of another 'quickie' theft Monday afternoon. Police report that he left his wallet on a table after having lunch at P J.'s Restaurant on Nassau Street. Realizing he had left his wallet behind, he returned but not quickly enough. He lost $120.

On Saturday afternoon, clerks noticed a heavyset, black female in her 30's, wearing thick glasses, acting suspiciously in a bathing suit display area. When a clerk asked if she needed help, the shopper replied "No," and continued to browse.

The suspect was then observed attempting to conceal a white plastic bag under her arm, and after fiddling with the bag, she left abruptly. Employees checked the area and found a $27 bathing suit, plus a pair of shorts and a two-piece women's outfit missing. The last two items were valued at $92.

The victim was jogging Friday afternoon along a path that runs between the Institute for Advanced Study and Battle Park off Mercer Road when a white male dropped his pants and exposed himself as she passed by. Lt. Samuel Bianco reported that the same thing had happened to the victim about a month ago in the same area, with the same suspect.

The suspect has dark, curly brown hair, is clean-shaven and was wearing blue jeans. Lt. Bianco said that the victim told them the same thing has happened to other people.

Four Receive Fines In Township Court Here

Four Princeton area residents were fined last week in Township court.

Richard Timpone, 199A Ewing Street, was fined $225 and $30 to the Violent Crime Compensation Board for passing a bad check, and $65 for careless driving. Jeffrey J. Walker, 29 MacLean Street, was fined $215 plus a $100 surcharge and lost his license for six months for driving while intoxicated. He also paid $65 on a careless driving offense.

For driving while his license was suspended, G. William Brown of Hopewell Valley Inn, Hopewell, was fined $765 and sentenced to one day in jail. He also had his license suspended for an additional six months.

Romus Broadway, 12 Birch Avenue, paid $65 for improper entering or leaving a highway.

Two Hondas Vandalized In Separate Incidents

Two parked Honda cars were vandalized last week in separate incidents.

Borough police report that a University student discovered on Saturday that the right rear window of her 1987 Honda had been smashed while the car was parked for two days behind the Terrace Club, 62 Washington Road. Nothing was taken from the car.

The driver's side window of a 1985 Honda was smashed and a rear tail light broken while it was parked on Morgan Place. The owner, a Mountain Avenue resident, told Township police that he had parked the car at 1 a.m. Sunday morning and discovered the vandalism when he returned at 5 the same morning.

Township police also list the theft of a $16 Mercedes Benz emblem from the rear trunk of a 560SL while it was parked Friday afternoon at the Princeton Shopping Center. The owner is a Princeton resident.

Lilac Lane Scheduled To Become a Dead-End

Borough Council has approved turning Lilac Lane, in the Borough's western section, into a dead-end street. A cul-de-sac would be created about 100 feet short of Cleveland Lane, permitting entry only from Hodge Road.

This decision reflects a compromise between the Borough's need to repave the street and a reluctance on the part of a number of property owners to see this work done. Residents agreed to permit the repaving as long as Lilac Lane could no longer be used as a through street.

Reception Is Planned For Granada Delegation

An official welcome for the visiting delegation from Granada, Nicaragua, will be held at 6 p.m. on Friday at Borough Hall. The reception to honor Dr. Anibal Morales, Mayor of Granada, Dr. Narciso Antonio Vargas, director of Bernardino Diaz Ochoa Hospital, and Ernesto Torres, a community leader, will be held by Borough Council, Township Committee, and both Princeton Mayors.

The public ceremony will be followed by refreshments. Granada is Princeton's sister city.

On the preceding day, Thursday, at 8 p.m. a public forum, "Life and Health in Granada, Nicaragua," will be held in Bowl 2 at the Woodrow Wilson School, Princeton University.

The three Granadans were originally scheduled to be in Princeton two weeks ago, but their visit was delayed because of difficulties in obtaining visas.

Also planned during their stay is a reception at 7 p.m. on June 8 at the Arts Council in conjunction with a photo exhibit, "Images of Nicaragua."

Recent Meeting Explores Future Needs of Schools

Members of the Princeton Regional School Board Business/Finance Committee, at a recent meeting with the Regional Planning Board, discussed what the school district's ten-year needs might be. The meeting was held in conjunction with the current revision of the Planning Board's Master Plan.

Corinne Kyle, a member of the Committee, said it was important to keep an eye to the future on the possible need for a fifth elementary school. Littlebrook will reopen in September, and it is quite likely that Johnson Park will reopen in the near future.

"We know our needs in five years, from projections," she said, "But, in a ten-year plan, with land scarce, should we have the Planning Board set aside land for a new school to prevent the site from being developed?"

This is one question that the Business/Finance Committee will discuss between now and October, when it is scheduled to return before the Planning Board.

Another topic to be brought up will be the space problems at John Witherspoon Middle School. Right now, classrooms are adequate, but the gym and library space is not.

The number of Princeton Regional athletic fields is a problem right now, said Mrs. Kyle, who presented the Business/Finance Committee's report to the Planning Board. "The amount of land is inadequate for playing fields, and the growing enrollment will lead to greater pressure for these fields."

She noted that the number of playing fields for the size of the program being run is not sufficient by State standards, and added that, because there is an insufficient number, it is impossible to open school playing fields to the community.

The Committee report in the fall would include a section on where a fifth school should be built.

Council, School Board Approve New Salaries

Borough Council last week approved a five percent salary increase in 1988 for Borough employees. In addition, dental and vision plans have been improved, said Council President Marvin Reed, and a more uniform policy for tuition reimbursement has been put in place.

Also last week, the Princeton Regional School Board ratified a new two-year contract with four unions representing teachers, secretaries, aides, and maintenance workers.

First- and second-year increases for the school employees are: 11.9 and 9.1 percent for teachers; 11.9 and 9.1 percent for secretaries; 11.9 and 9.4 percent for aides; and 12.7 and 9.8 percent for maintenance staff.

Board Member Ann McGoldrick had explained earlier that first-year salary increases were higher than usual for the district because members of the four unions had agreed to change their medical insurance plan to that held by most State workers. This switch from its previous carrier saved the School Board more than a half million dollars in premiums. Much of this saving was returned to union members in first-year raises.

Housing Rehabilitation Explored by Township

The Township's proposed Regional Contribution Agreement with the Borough to rehabilitate existing substandard dwelling units in the Witherspoon-John area was the subject of a closed meeting held last Tuesday night in Borough Hall.

Members of Council, Township Attorney Edwin Schmierer, and representatives of the Witherspoon-Jackson Redevelopment Corporation (WJDC) discussed the project, which would be administered by the WJDC and would contribute to the Township's affordable housing quota.

Council President Marvin Reed said the Council reacted favorably to the concept of entering into the agreement with the Township. He said negotiations would continue in order to get more precise data on the cost of rehabilitation, and whether it is feasible for the Township to contribute enough to this cost.

Under the proposed plan, the Township would contribute $20,000 per unit to rehabilitate 13 units in the Borough, or a total of $260,000. Five of the

Talk on Bobby Kennedy

Former United States Attorney General Nicholas deB. Katzenbach, an associate of the late Robert F. Kennedy, will speak on Mr. Kennedy's legacy and the civil rights movement at a public meeting Sunday at 7:30 at the Woodrow Wilson School.

The talk, sponsored by the Princeton Community Democratic Organization, will commemorate the 20th anniversary of Robert F. Kennedy's assassination in June, 1968. Mr. Kennedy, who was Mr. Katzenbach's predecessor as attorney general in the administration of President John F. Kennedy, was influential in the civil rights movement of the early 1960s.

units, a block of row houses, are on Leigh Avenue, and are owned by WJDC. They are currently rented.

The money would come from affordable housing contributions required by builders under the Township's affordable housing ordinance.

Mr. Reed said that negotiations "look very promising" and that he hopes an agreement can be arrived at in time for the Township's appearance before Judge Serpentelli. The Toms River judge is scheduled to rule on June 21 on the Township's affordable housing program under the State Supreme Court's Mount Laurel II decision.

Decision Is Finalized To Close Rooming House

The Borough Zoning Board last week memorialized its decision to close the rooming house owned by Sanford Zeitler at 240 John Street. The Board stated that the ten-room house, which has two shared bathrooms but no kitchen, must revert back to its permitted use, that of a single-family dwelling.

Mr. Zeitler, who also owns a rooming house at 203-205 Nassau Street, will have 45 days from Friday to appeal the Zoning Board's decision to the Mercer County courts.

Borough Community Development Director Frank Slimak plans to write Mr. Zeitler today (May 31) to inform him officially of the Board's decision and of his right to appeal. The letter will also state that, once Mr. Zeitler seeks to correct the house's illegal occupancy, he will have to notify tenants of their potential eligibility for relocation assistance.

Asked whether the Borough had any responsibility to seek alternate housing for the nine current tenants, Mr. Slimak said the municipality may become involved in helping Mr. Zeitler help these people find housing. "But I assume the financial responsibility will be Mr. Zeitler's."

Tenants at 240 John Street pay $250 to $275 per month for their rooms.

The rooming house was cited for 55 violations in November, 1987. All but two were corrected by the time of the Zoning Board hearing in April. In March, however, Mr. Zeitler was summoned to Municipal Court because a number of violations discovered by the Health Department in November had not yet been addressed.

Gift to the University Honors Two Residents

Joseph L. Bolster Jr. of Parkside Drive and Jack B. Joyce of Somerset are two of the three members of the Princeton University Class of 1952 in whose honor Princeton University has announced a gift of $450,000 to establish undergraduate scholarships. The gift was made anonymously by a class member.

Mr. Bolster is director of Annual Giving at the University. From 1952 through 1956, he served as class reunion chairman, member of the class executive committee and acting class treasurer (the treasurer was James A. Baker III, currently United States Secretary of the Treasury). He was class president from 1957 through 1962, class reunion chairman for the 15th Reunion, and a member of the class reunion committee in 1972 and 1977.

Mr. Joyce, a division head in the engineering department of the Princeton Plasma Physics Laboratory, was a member of the class major reunion committee in 1967 and 1982, chairman of the 20th Reunion in 1972 and co-chairman of the 25th in 1977. He served as off-year reunion chairman in 1968 and 1971 and was chairman of the annual class dinner from 1982 through 1987.

He was elected class vice president from 1982 to 1987. Mr. Joyce also represented his class on the Alumni Council class affairs committee from 1977 to 1979 and on the committee on reunions from 1980 to 1982 and was Grand Marshall of Princeton Reunions from 1982 to 1984.

Sarnoff Center Awarded Grant for Plasma Etching

The New Jersey Consortium for Surface Processing Research, which includes Princeton University and the David Sarnoff Research Center, has been awarded a grant of up to $1.5 million to carry out advanced manufacturing research in plasma etching.

Plasma etching involves the use of high-energy physics to etch or cut a surface. Advances in plasma etching technology are expected to improve the production of fault-free semiconductor devices. The David Sarnoff Research Center, as a member of the Consortium for Surface Processing Research, proposes to create new tools to plasma etch computer microchips with a precision invisible to the naked eye, and to deliver the tools to the Sematech manufacturing line in Austin.

Sematech is a semiconductor manufacturing research consortium located in Dallas, Tex. Its stated objective is "to restore the United States to world leadership in semiconductor manufacturing technology," a role that has increasingly been played by Japan.

To further this goal, Sematech announced five "Centers of Excellence" to be recipients of from $500,000 to $1.5 million to carry out different aspects of research in improved semiconductor manufacturing technology. The New Jersey Consortium for Surface Processing Research, consisting of Princeton University, Rutgers, New Jersey Institute of Technology, Stevens Institute of Technology, and the David Sarnoff Research Center, was named one of the Sematech Center of Excellence to develop plasma etching tools.

Actual research in plasma etching will take place at the David Sarnoff Center. Other universities or consortia named Sematech Centers of Excellence are the University of Arizona for contamination/defect control; the University of California at Berkeley for optical lithography; the University of New Mexico for its work in metrology, and the Massachusetts Microelectronics Center for its work in single-wafer processing.

The New Jersey universities and the Sarnoff Center formed the Consortium for Surface Processing to improve New Jersey's chances of making a successful bid for research competitions such as this one. The Consortium hopes to establish an advanced technology center in surface engineered materials to be funded under the proposed "Jobs, Education and Competitiveness Bond Act of 1988," as recommended by the governor.

This center could logically be located in a materials science building that is proposed to be built at Princeton. The University is actively seeking funds to build a building or an addition to an existing structure in an effort to house new initiatives in interdisciplinary research, including a new photonics laboratory. Ten million dollars of the $65 million bond issue, if approved by the voters, is expected to be allocated to the new center by the Commission on Science, which will administer the funds from the bond issue.

No "Sell Out" by Mayor On Affordable Housing

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I am writing in reply to Ronald C. Nielsen's reeent letter (TOWN TOPICS, May 18, 1988) eriticizing Mayor Sigmund and the Borough Council for "selling out" on affordable housing. The numbers that Mr. Nielsen puts forth in his letter misrepresent the situation, and, eonsequently, lead him to place blame where I don't believe any should be plaeed.

The affordable housing program is eomplex, and the financing paekage and selection process for Prineeton housing — as for any of the munieipalities in the program — is very intricate and consists of several parts.

Construetion eosts are only one aspeet of the package. In Prineeton, these eosts are coming from 1) a bond issue, and 2) a subsidy from the New Jersey Housing Mortgage and Finance Agency (HMFA), which amounts to approximately $6,000 per unit. Thus, HMFA beeomes a partner with the Borough in providing affordable housing in Princeton.

Mr. Nielsen objects to the agreement worked out between the Borough and HMFA, and suggests that the Borough refuse the subsidy and that the buyers of the affordable housing pay a higher price for their unit.

This strategy might work in other building programs where costs and purehase price are closely tied on a per unit basis but it will not work as well in the affordable housing program. Even when the eonstruction subsidy is not eonsidered, Mayor Sigmund and the Council are not the only eharacters in the affordable housing drama.

There are at least two other major players — the buyers of the units and HMFA. (The banks also have a role, but I will leave those comments to another time and plaee.)

First, the buyers. In order to qualify for affordable housing, a buyer must meet eertain income requirements. These income requirements determine price: the mortgage, or purchase priee of the unit, depends upon the buyer's ineome — not on the eost of construetion. For this reason, the $6,000 increase per unit eannot be arbitrarily eharged baek to the buyer of each unit as Mr. Nielsen suggests, for the purchase price is determined on income — not on building eosts.

And, second, HFMA — the agency that also guarantees the mortgages of those who qualify for affordable housing. These mortgages amount to several millions of dollars. It would be diffieult, if not impossible, to find any person or institution to baek mortgages for people at these income levels — and to back them at the low-interest rate provided by HMFA.

This is a very important aspect of making housing affordable and in making the program suecessful. Therefore, even without the eonstruction subsidy, HMFA is a partner with the Mayor and the Counеil in providing much-needed affordable housing in Princeton.

The purpose of this letter, therefore, is to point out some of the eomplexity involved in putting together a program of this type and magnitude. The program is not, and cannot be, totally and eompletely decided on Monument Drive. Prineeton munieipal government, for better or for worse, is part of the region and the State and must work in cooperation with numerous agencies such as HMFA.

I urge Mr. Nielsen and others with similar eoneerns to talk with Mayor Sigmund, with members of the Borough Council, or with Mr. Slimak about any questions they have before blaming them.

Library Friends Thank Supporters of Book Sale

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The Friends of the Library of West Windsor are delighted to report that our book sale on May 14 was the most suecessful ever. We realized a profit of more than $1600 from purchases and are happy to note that many patrons also decided to become members of the Friends.

We are especially grateful to the members of Boy Seout Troop 14 for their tireless help in transporting heavy boxes and also to the many members of the Friends of the Library who organized the sale, sorted the books and helped staff the sales tables.

The next task for the Friends will be to allocate money for purchases to enhance the quality of our library. We hope that new and prospective members will join us at our next meeting, Monday, June 6, at 1 p.m. at the West Windsor Branch Library.

Gov. Kean to Sign Book Friday at the U-Store

Gov. Thomas Kean will autograph copies of his book The Politics of Inclusion Friday from noon to 2 at the Princeton University Store.

In the book, Gov. Kean describes some of New Jersey's most powerful and colorful political figures. He also reviews how he made the most important decisions of his tenure, including the appointment of a United States Senator, the reappointment of a controversial judge, his opposition to apartheid and stand on divestment, and his position on the State's taking over local schools that fail to educate children.

Gov. Kean, who graduated from Princeton in the Class of 1957, will be in Princeton for the University's annual Reunions.

Two other authors, also on hand for Reunions, will sign their books on Friday as well. From 2 to 4, consumer reporter Betsy Ashton will sign copies of her Guide to Living on Your Own. The book gives inside tips about everyday business dealings that save time, money and aggravation.

From 4 to 5:30, Dr. Richard Weeder of the Class of 1958 will sign copies of his book Surgeon: the View from Behind the Mosk.

A crafts fair, a summer-long music festival, and a hot air balloon rally will headline a program of free events this summer at Princeton Forrestal Village.

'Hog Weighing Day' Set By Living History Farm

If you like your pigs in portraits, or in petting zoos, or in sweater vests at the end of gold leashes, Howell Farm's Hog Weighing Day is not for you.

At 1 p.m. on Saturday, the Howell hogs will wade out of their wallow, shuffle down a squeeze chute and step onto the scales. The summer weigh-in is open to the public, which is invited to join the farmers as they wash and weigh hogs, slop hogs, and, of course, call hogs.

All day long, kids can try their luck at guessing the weights of the farm's pigs, sheep, horses, cattle and fowl, with prizes offered to the best guessers. A craft program for children, "Paper-weight Pigs," will be offered in the farmhouse from 11 until 3. There is a 50-cent fee for participation in the craft program.

Howell Farm is open for self-guided touring Saturdays from 10 to 4 and Sundays from noon to 4. It is located on Valley

LET'S TALK ABOUT
LIVING TREES NEED LOVING CARE
with Sam DeTuro
Woodwinds Associates
Trees are living, growing things with health care needs. Yet, some property owners treat their trees with very little respect
While plants may not be able to verbalize their needs, they do give off signs that let you know of their needs. Some may be apparent to the untrained eye, but others can be seen only by a consulting arborist or other tree health professional. For example, one of the first clues of a tree's problems is the withering or yellowing of leaves. Finding the cause may require a professional.
The diagnosis for withering leaves may be as simple as summer stress, which would require water or liquid fertilization. Or, if the dying leaves are concentrated on one side, it may be girdling roots strangling the life out of the tree.
In the example cited above, watering may sound trivial, but lack of water could threaten the life of the tree. If leaves are withering all over the tree, and it hasn't rained lately, you should provide the necessary water. A tree needs an inch or two of water per week. But give it one or two good soakings — don't just sprinkle! If water runs off, make enough holes in the ground for it to penetrate into the root area. If the tree doesn't respond, its problems go deeper, and professional help is needed Fertilizer should be prescribed professionally, based on labatory analysis of the soil deficiencies creating the need for fertilization. Girdling roots should be removed surgically and the tree fertilized and watered
We at WOODWINDS are members of the American Society of Consulting Arborists, the professional society dedicated to assuring that every living tree has an opportunity for professional, loving care. For more information about tree and shrub care, give us a call at 924-3500. We are glad to be of service!

High Technology Topic Of Forrestal Conference

Coopers & Lybrand, one of the nation's largest accounting and consulting firms, which has offices in Forrestal Village, will hold its annual Technology Network Exchange, a national conference, June 15 at the Princeton Marriott.

The conference will focus on the challenges facing high technology companies as they compete for global market share. According to Ronald T. Maheu, national chairman of Coopers & Lybrands High Technology Industries Group, Princeton was a natural choice for the conference.

"The state has the second highest number of biotechnology companies of any state in the United States, and it's the fourth largest in high tech — and these figures don't even reflect New Jersey's established presence in pharmaceuticals or medical technology," Mr. Maheu said.

Among the invited conference speakers from New Jersey will be Saul K. Fenster, president of the New Jersey Institute of Technology; Edward Cohen, executive director of the New Jersey Science and Technology Commission; and Lawrence J. Schoenberg, chairman and CEO of New Jersey-based AGS Computers, Incorporated.

The day-long conference begins at 8:30 a.m. For program and registration information, call (617) 574-5292.

SBRSA

ly to the Township's affordable housing program.

All But Two Approved. The SBRSA decided to approve all but the West Drive and Arcaro sites, on the grounds that the requests for these two projects were not backed up by engineering data that customarily accompanies the CP-1 (construction permit) request forms. There was some discussion, however, because the SBRSA had been brought into the Calton Homes Mt. Laurel litigation with the Township and the Planning Board under the "scarce resource" provision.

SBRSA attorney, David Goldberg, told the members that Judge Eugene Serpentelli had said that if all of the Mt. Laurel projects were to be approved by the SBRSA he would dismiss the Authority from the law suit. It was noted that lawyers for other developers "may start scrambling" for sewer extensions in advance of the June SBRSA meeting.

"We're being addressed with a closing gate," Mr. Bixby remarked. "What is to prevent someone from getting a piece of paper in here without backup?" He and other Authority members felt it was important that they not "violate" their own general procedures under pressure from "closing gate" applications. Mr. Bixby moved approval of six of the nine Township applications.

The firehouse was not approved, because it lacked site plan and engineering specifications as did the West Drive and Arcaro sites. The Medical Center application was deferred to June, because it had not been signed by the Borough engineer. Phase I of a Dutch Neck development, to include an office building for the West Windsor-Plainsboro Board of Education and seven single family dwellings was approved.

Earlier in the evening, Mr. Bixby noted that the SBRSA was within two to three months of running out of capacity and issuing a sewer ban. He seemed to look forward to that day. Mr. Bartolino remarked that each month the Authority allocates one half of remaining capacity, although this month, the amount allocated was one third rather than one half.

Remaining capacity seems to be between 300,000 gpd and 500,000 gpd.

Fire House

Valley Road building site can accommodate both the pre-existing uses as well as a new firehouse, but doing so requires a reconfiguration of the Community Park Pool parking lot. The site plan shows four parking spaces for Township municipal use immediately in front of the building, and a road leading back to the "court" parking behind the school, where seven existing school buses and 55 cars could be parked.

The Community Park Pool lot presently holds 126 cars, but could be expanded to allow 155, according to site studies by Short and Ford, architects. The plan also takes into account 48 spaces along Carnahan Place, a narrow road dividing the school building from the adjacent playing field.

If the school buses could be relocated elsewhere — perhaps to the Township-owned Tiger Garage during the summer — that would free up space for an additional 25 cars. In either case the projected number of spaces — 287 without the buses on site and 262 with them — is more than the 180 spaces needed by the Township and the Board of Education. However, as Mayor Litvack noted, the heaviest parking need is during the summer months when the Community Park Pool and tennis courts are in heavy demand.

That demand could be better met in the next phase of the Township plans, which call for a new police and municipal court building on the parking lot next to the present Township Police Department with a decked parking structure taking advantage of the change in grade behind it. Those plans were displayed and alluded to but not discussed before TOWN TOPICS went to press.

In public comment, Larry DuPraz, a longtime member of Engine Co. No. 3, stated his preference for keeping the Chambers Street Firehouse and building a two-bay firehouse in the Township, preferably not on Witherspoon Street. Susan Rodnon asked why the Community Park North site had been dismissed, although it seemed, from the architect's analysis to have the most advantages.

The answer, from several sources, was that Community Park North was a natural parkland area and that the traffic on Route 206 would present enormous difficulties for firemen arriving as well as fire engines trying to get to a fire. Mayor Litvack said that because it had been purchased with Greenacres money, another site not presently in open space would have to be substituted.

There was also discussion of why a new firehouse is needed at all if the Fire Department would soon be going to from all volunteer to paid or partly paid basis. Borough Councilman Mark Freda, a member of Hook & Ladder, said he hoped that day could be put off a while, and that planning had been for both short term and long term needs. He mentioned the next piece of equipment, a cross between a pumper and a ladder truck that is scheduled to be bought in 1991 and which will not fit in any of the present fire houses.

Reunions

floor of Stanhope Hall, carries a full listing of all the events from this Wednesday through Tuesday, when the University's 241st Commencement will be held at 11 in front of Nassau Hall.

Another source of information on Reunions activities and locations of specific class gatherings is the Alumni Office itself, located in Maclean House between the front campus and Nassau Presbyterian Church. Admission is charged for most of the cultural events, and town residents may find that many or all seats have been taken by alumni, their spouses or children. The lectures and tours are free.

Princeton University President Harold T. Shapiro will be presiding at his first Reunions and Commencement since taking office in early January. He is scheduled to speak to alumni Saturday at 8:45 a.m. in Richardson Auditorium, but the "Conversation with Harold Shapiro '64," as it is billed, is not open to the public.

However, his wife, Vivian Shapiro, an authority on infant mental health, will moderate an alumni-faculty forum on "America's Children: Our Neglected Resource" on Friday at 3 in Wood Auditorium, McCosh Hall. Alumni-faculty forums begin Thursday afternoon with "Art and Law: Curious Modern Cases," by Professor of English Alvin Kernan, and continue through Saturday morning.

Wide-Ranging Forums. The forums cover contemporary topics ranging from health care to the environmental movement, from television today to superstar athletes, from the underclass in America to two-party politics. There is also a talk on "The America's Cup: Past and Future," by Bill Robinson '39, sponsored by the Friends of Sailing, and "What Shall We Tell the Next President About U.S. Foreign Policy?" a Woodrow Wilson School alumni-faculty forum.

Meanwhile there are guided tours of the Putnam Memorial Collection of Sculpture on campus, the University Chapel windows, the Plasma Physics Laboratory, and the Rare Books in Firestone Library — all open to the public. Friday morning from 10 to noon, Outdoor Action will lead a guided nature walk in the Institute Woods, also open to the public.

Cultural activities begin Thursday at 8 with a Theatre Intime performance of Agatha Christie's The Mouse Trap in Murray Theater. Additional performances will be held Friday and Saturday at 8.

The Gilbert & Sullivan Society will put on Trial by Jury in Forbes College Theater Friday and Saturday at 3. Triangle Club offers back-to-back performanees of Ain't Mythbehavin' at 7:30 and 10 Friday and Saturday nights.

Saturday morning at 11, the South Frisco Jazz Band, from Orange County, Calif., will give a free concert in Richardson Auditorium. Saturday evening at 8:30, the radio comedian Jean Shepard will make his traditional Reunions appearance in Richardson Auditorium under the sponsorship of radio station WPRB.

This Year It's '63. The P-Rade, highlight of the Reunions weekend, starts from the front campus at 2 p.m. Saturday. It is traditionally led by the class holding its 25th reunion, this year the Class of 1963, who are followed by The Old Guard. A silver-handled cane is traditionally carried by the oldest returning alumnus. Last year, Arthur Holden '12 earned the honor.

The P-Rade takes the returning graduates to Clarke baseball field for a meeting of the Alumni Council. The rest of the afternoon is taken up with receptions of all kinds.

On Sunday the focus shifts to the graduating class of 1988. The Baccalaureate Service for degree recipients and their families takes place at 2, followed by a garden party hosted by President and Mrs. Shapiro at Prospect.

Class Day ceremonies and awards take place behind Nassau Hall Monday morning, followed by a lunch in the Blair Hall courtyard. The Senior Prom is held Monday night in Jadwin Gym. Commencement is scheduled for 11 a.m. Tuesday morning in front of Nassau Hall.

Afterward the graduates and their families pack up and depart, and it's business as usual in Princeton.

Israeli Diplomat to Speak On Arab Co-Existence

The Honorable Muhamed Massarwa will be the special guest of the Jewish Center during the weekend of June 10 to 12. Mr. Massarwa is consul general of Israel in Atlanta, serving the southern region of the United States.

Mr. Massarwa will speak Sunday, June 12, at 2 at the Jewish Center on "Arab-Israeli and Jewish-Israeli Co-Existence." The public is invited, and there is no admission fee.

The first Arab-Israeli ever to hold such a high diplomatic post in the Israeli government, Mr. Massarwa was born in Kfar Kara, Israel, in 1942. He received his education in Israel, and served as secretary of the Arab Students' Association while attending the Hebrew University in Jerusalem. He holds a law degree and conducted his law practice in Hadera, attracting a mixed Arab and Jewish clientele.

He served as a legal advisor in the Arab Chairman's Association of local municipalities. He also served as head of the advisory council to the Ministry of Labor in Israel. Among the director's committees he has served on are "Avoka," which was established by the Prime Minister to advance the development of the Arab factor in Israel; Arab/Jewish Co-Existence Educational Institute in Jerusalem; "Interns for Peace," for social, educational and co-existence activities.

For additional information, call Dr. N. Feldstein, 924-6656 evenings.

In a special outreach program, Princeton Alliance members have telephoned 20,000 homes in the Princeton area, including 7,500 homes in the Plainsboro area. To each person reached who is not associated with a church, an invitation has been extended to receive information about Princeton Alliance Church.

Mr. Dupraz asked where the $1.8 million to finance a new firehouse would be coming from, and asked Borough Councilwoman Mildred Trotman, as Borough Fire Commissioner, to state her views. Ms. Trotman said that weighing the pros and cons she felt the Valley Rnad building site was "probably the best site" and that building a two-bay firehouse on the Township "triangle" public works site near Terhune Road would not accommodate future growth.

"We might be faced with these same arguments all over again," Mrs. Trotman said. As to the cost, she appreciated the tax impact, "but it is my responsibility as an elected official to make these decisions."

Neighbors were assured that there would be no siren on the firehouse and that the social function of the firehouse would be limited to evening and weekend gatherings of the members, for which the 10 allocated parking spaces would be adequate. These spaces would be of mowed grass directly in front of the firehouse, to fool the public into thinking they are not parking areas.

Finally, in response to a question from Ms. Rodnon about the growth of traffic on Witherspoon Street, Mr. Davies said that Witherspoon is not the most heavily travelled street in Princeton and because of the way it goes into the Borough and not into the region is not likely to be as heavily travelled, as say, Harrison Street or Bayard Lane.

Brochure

and a conciliator from the United States Department of Justice, who had been brought in by Mayor Sigmund to deal with the simmering tension between the Borough Police Department and some members of the black community. One complaint, frequently voiced, was that blacks were stopped by police for unexplained reasons.

During last week's Council session, Mr. Herbert quoted several portions of the draft of the brochure to indicate that the language sounded as if advice were being given to a potential criminal suspect. One stated, "Whether or not you are arrested may just depend on how much you have gotten yourself together by the time you have to answer who you are." Another informed the reader, "If police don't have a warrant, you don't have to let them in unless they insist on coming in."

While noting that the advice in the brochure was not improper from a legal standpoint, Mr. Herbert said Chief Carnevale wanted to know if it is necessary to give this kind of legal advice to people who may be apprehended for a crime. In addition to the paragraphs he had already noted, Mr. Herbert was referring to a sentence that read, "Don't talk to anyone, except to give your name and address, without first talking with a lawyer. Anything you say can be used against you."

Councilwoman Mildred Trotman, who has been working with the Civil Rights Commission on developing this brochure, said that a number of communities already had issued brochures of this type, and pointed out that the input of both Borough and Township police was received by the Commission. "We tried to put something together that would benefit Princeton."

"There appears to be a latent hostility in the brochure, not meant, that might backfire," said Councilman Rodney Fisk. "It might be more useful if it also included paragraphs on what citizens can do to help the police." Councilman Mark Freda said some parts of the brochure assumed a tone that the police are doing wrong.

Members of Council told Mrs. Trotman they would return their comments about the brochure to her by June 3. The Commission is also waiting for further feedback from Township Committee, the two administrators, and the two police chiefs.

He was a member of the Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church.

Surviving are his wife, Helen Ball Hoagland; three daughters, Alexis Lindsey of Conshohocken, Pa., Karin Hoagland of Princeton, and Lynn Peniston of Silver Spring, Md.; and six grandchildren.

The service was held at the Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church with the Rev. Adrian McFarlane, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Princeton Cemetery.

Weight Lost vs. Inches Lost

Even though weight loss may slow occasionally, the loss of inches may not. This reduction in inches shows up in the way your clothing fits looser. Knowing that you're continuing to lose inches, even when weight loss has slowed or stopped, will keep you motivated until actual weight loss resumes. Being able to see a reduction in inches can be especially helpful during dieting plateaus.

At Diet Center, we encourage you to monitor your inches-lost on a regular basis. Remember, even though the scale may not show you what you want to see every time, the mirror and the tape measure are the true measures of your success.

Crossroads Nursery School — Where the Real Learning Takes Place at the Institute — Celebrates Its 40th Year

Walk into any nursery school and you are at once struck by the similarities of one pre-kindergarten program to another.

There are the "cubbies" painted in primary colors, in which the children keep their rest mats and where they hang their jackets before joining the activity among the blocks and train tracks on the floor or in the housekeeping corner. There are alphabet letters and pictures of barnyard animals on the walls, a guinea pig or an aquarium on a table off to the side, plenty of books, puzzles, crayons, wooden toys, dolls, and dress-up clothes to choose from.

The tables, chairs and painting easels are miniature, and there is a big block to stand on next to the sink in the bathroom. Although the length of stay, amount of actual instruction and degree of parent participation varies nowadays in these transition programs between toddler life at home and big school kindergarten, the daily rhythm is similar everywhere: free play, clean-up, snack, quiet time, story or music and outdoor play when the weather is nice.

All of these elements may be found at Crossroads Nursery School at the Institute for Advanced Study. But this school is unique in several aspects, the foremost being its international flavor. Taking its name from the concept "Crossroads of the World," the school was founded in the fall of 1947 by a group of Institute families.

ECHO AND FRIENDS: Ch. Lizzie's Goldrush Echo, a frequent visitor at Crossroads Nursery School, is more interested in the children in Group B at Crossroads Nursery School than in the story being read by his owner, Myrna Jenkins, nursery school director.

Anniversary Picnic. Crossroads will celebrate its 40th anniversary with a picnic Sunday from 4:30 to 6:30 at the school. Anyone who has ever had a connection with the school is invited — former students, parents, teachers. Invitations have been sent out, but anyone associated with the school who did not receive one is welcome to call Jane Pearce, head of the board of trustees, at 924-2782.

Crossroads began as a cooperative nursery school in the ground floor of an Institute building at the foot of Olden Lane. Ten years later it moved into one of the early garden apartments for temporary Institute members. In 1967, as the school grew to 45 children in three age groupings, each with two teachers, a second housing unit was made available.

In addition to providing the facilities, the Institute also pays for the utilities. Institute families are guaranteed a place at the school, and currently, one-quarter to one-third of the enrollment is made up of Institute children — often of many differing nationalities — with the balance coming from the community at large.

Nancy Tomlinson was the first Crossroads director, succeeded by Jan O'Neill Smith and later by Betsy Speagle. Today, Myrna Jenkins takes care of the administrative chores and also teaches the middle group with Pei Hsuang. Mrs. Speagle continues her long association with the school as teacher of the youngest group with Connie Sayen-Ban, while Cheryl Halvorsen and Vicky Tallmadge are in charge of the pre-kindergarten group.

Long Association. All the teachers, except Mrs. Jenkins, have had one or more children in the school, and all have been associated with the school, either as parent or teacher, for many years. In Mrs. Speagle's case, the association goes back to 1953 when her daughter Emily was enrolled. All speak with enormous fondness of the school, the children, the families and each other.

Each invariably mentions the international flavor first as the ingredient that sets Crossroads Nursery School apart from other pre-kindergarten programs in the area — with the possible exception of the University NOW Day Nursery, which draws the sons and daughters of foreign-born University faculty and graduate students.

Crossroads not only enrolls the children of permanent and temporary members of the Institute who come from all over the world, but it also attracts families in the community. These families may either have a foreign background themselves or want their children to experience the diversity of the world first hand.

This year, for instance, there are triplets, two girls and a boy with curly red-hair, who were born in France of a Belgian mother and Uruguayan father. They arrived at the Institute last fall and came to the school speaking French to their mother and Spanish to their father, but have now picked up English as well. A few months past their third birthday, they are trilingual. There is one family in which the father is Turkish and the mother German, and still another in which the father, a world-famous mathematician, is French and the mother Russian.

Community Children. From the community come many Asian children, including several whose one parent is Japanese and the other American or British, as well as a shy little girl whose father is Scottish and mother Irish. Early in the year, the children stick pins

Staged Reading Friday

The Arts Council Plays Committee will sponsor another in its series of staged readings Friday at 8.

Three actors and four singers will read through the first part of Sylvia Fontyn-Elvin's new comic entertainment, The Vindictive Chorister. The singers are Mary Kemp, soprano; Nora Sirbaugh, alto; John Kemp, tenor; and Gordon Myers, baritone.

McCarter Drama Season Announced for 1988-89

In an election year, the 1988-89 drama season at McCarter Theater will examine the political animal and explore questions of hypocrisy, greed, freedom and personal identity.

As outlined by Nagle Jackson, McCarter's artistic director who has recently returned from directing The Glass Menagerie at the Gorky Theater in Leningrad, the season offers three comedies, including one musical, a controversial drama by a Soviet writer that could not have been produced until the advent of glasnost, and a production "to be announced."

Opening the season is Garson Kanin's comedy Born Yesterday, which was announced by McCarter for the season just concluding but had to be postponed when a snafu arose concerning production rights. However, this comedy about influence peddling in Washington may seem even more relevant just before the November election, as Mr. Nagle hinted at a recent press conference.

Born Yesterday's heroine leads a fairly mindless existence until she observes her boyfriend's corrupt activities, recognizes her role in the process and refuses to be a part of it. The comedy opens September 28 and runs through October 16.

Next in the series is Moliere's Tartuffe, a satire on religious hypocrisy which Mr. Jackson has directed once before and is looking forward to directing again. He calls Tartuffe "one of the great villains of the stage." A religious con man, Tartuffe ingratiates himself into the household of a rich and gullible Parisian and through cunning and flattery almost gains control of his victim's entire estate and family.

Tartuffe runs from November 2 through 20. It will feature Richard Risso, an actor with considerable experience at the Pacific Conservatory for the Performing Arts, the Oregon Shakespeare Festival and the Milwaukee Repertory Theater, in the title role. Mr. Risso has appeared in previous McCarter productions in the 1980-81 and the 1984-85 seasons and will also direct Born Yesterday.

At Christmas, McCarter will again stage Charles Dickens' A Christmas Carol, with Robert Lanchester directing. Mr. Lanchester has played Scrooge in previous productions.

THE MISS FIRECRACKER CONTEST

comedy by Beth Henley, author of Crimes of the Heart
directed by Robert Lanchester

Burnt by a reputation she can't shake, Carnelle's leaving town in a blaze of glory. She's entered the Fourth of July beauty pageant and talent contest, gathering her wacky friends and relatives to help. Rich in uproarious, quirky Southern humor, it's a play about liberating ourselves from false obligations, the nature of beauty in America, and the resilience of human nature.

In February, Mr. Jackson will direct a dramatic and highly critical account of the Chernobyl nuclear accident written by Vladimir Gubaryev, science editor of Pravda. The play is called Sarcophagus, and it has received an Olivier nomination — the British equivalent of a Tony Award — for Best Play of the past London Season. Sarcophagus opens February 8 and runs until February 26.

That staple of a drama season, "To Be Announced," is scheduled for March 29 to April 16. Mr. Jackson explains that keeping a slot open in this way allows flexibility should an opportunity arise to do a new work or a new vision of an established masterpiece.

Finally, the McCarter drama season will conclude May 10 to 28 with the musical A Funny Thing happened on the Way to the Forum, by Stephen Sondheim. "We will end the season chasing pretty ladies around the stage and making light remarks," is the way Mr. Jackson put it.

Season subscriptions are now on sale. They range in price from $65 to $115. For information call 683-8900.

Soprano to Give Concert For Reunions Weekend

Andrea Matthews, a New York soprano and a graduate of Princeton University, Class of 1978, will give a concert in the University Chapel on Friday, at 8:30 p.m. There is no admission charge and all are welcome.

Ms. Matthews, a lyric soprano, has performed in operas with the Philadelphia Orchestra, the Greensboro Opera, the Mostly Mozart Festival and the San Diego Opera Center; in oratorios with the Oratorio Society of New York, the Baltimore Symphony, the Philadelphia Orchestra, the Minnesota Orchestra and the Desoff Choir; and in recitals from New York City to Texas.

In 1979, she won second prize in the Boston Opera Company competition, and since then, she has been the recipient of numerous other awards. Her most recent appearance was in Carnegie Hall, with Dame Janet Baker and the Oratorio Society of New York, in a concert performance of Gluck's opera Orfeo et Euridice, singing the role of Amor.

For her June 3 concert here, Ms. Matthews will be supported by a chorus conducted by Walter Nollner, made up of members of the Princeton University Glee Club and the Princeton University Choir. She sang with both groups while she was a Princeton undergraduate. Together they will perform works by Mozart, Haydn and Brahms, accompanied by the Princeton University Chapel Organ played by Curtis Lasell, principal University organist.

The bulk of Ms. Matthews' program will be made up of songs by Mozart, Wolf and Brahms, a group of pieces by Poulenc and Duparc, and a group of arias from operas by Mozart, Verdi and Puccini.

IN 'COSI' CAST: Martha Elliott, left, and Gregory Mercer will sing the roles of Oespina and Ferrando in the June Opera Festival's production of Mozart's "Cosi fan tutte" this month. Sung in English, the opera opens Saturday, June 11, at 8 at the Kirby Arts Center at The Lawrenceville School. Edward Berkeley is the director, and Michael Pratt, a founder of the June Opera Festival five years ago, will conduct the orchestra made up of members of the New Jersey Symphony Orchesra. (Robert Faulkner photo)

Summer String Festival Planned at Conservatory

Westminster Conservatory, the community school of music at Westminster Choir College, is preparing for its annual Summer String Festival, to take place on campus the week of August 8.

The festival is a five-day workshop, to which parents and students will commute daily. Members of the Conservatory string faculty, both Suzuki and non-Suzuki, will share their expertise with area string players of all ages. The festival is designed to give Suzuki and non-Suzuki string players an intense week of instruction, with group classes on sight reading, repertoire, technique, orchestra, chamber music and student and faculty recitals.

Last year, Dalcroze eurhythmic classes were offered to Suzuki students in addition to lessons, group instruction, playdowns and student recitals. Because the classes were so successful, they will be extended and offered to traditional students as well.

The orchestra, under the direction of Barbara Barstow, will continue, with an additional class in orchestral skills for the less experienced child. Here, the basics of ensemble playing will be introduced, and students will have the opportunity to learn basic skills in an informal setting.

Among the faculty members participating are Katherine Hannauer, string department head; Barbara Greenberg, Suzuki string coordinator; Dorothy Barett, Elizabeth Thompson, Tobi Van Wormer, Margaret Roach, Carol Browning, Phillip Pugh and Elizabeth Briscoe.

In an effort to attract students from a greater distance, a daily bus will be provided for an additional fee.

The string festival provides an opportunity for students, parents and teachers to share their interests and love of music in a summer environment. For more information, call the Conservatory office at 921-7104, extension 260.

Westminster Orchestra Needs First Violinists

The Westminster Community Orchestra, under the direction of Barbara Barstow, is rehearsing for its spring concert on June 11. The concert will feature area soloists in an operatic potpourri, including selections from Olga Gorelli's opera Between the Shodow and the Dream.

First violinists are still needed to fill out the 50 member orchestra. For more information, call the Westminster Conservatory office at 921-7100, extension 260.

Opera Excerpts Planned By Westminster Orchestra

The Westminster Community Orchestra, sponsored by the Westminster Conservatory of Music, will end its second full season with a concert featuring well-known selections from opera. The performance will be held Saturday, June 11, at 8 at John Witherspoon School. Admission is free, although donations will be accepted.

The 60-piece orchestra, under the baton of Barbara Barstow, is composed primarily of amateur musicians from 21 towns in central New Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania. The orchestra rehearses Wednesday evenings from September through June on the Choir College campus. Faculty members from the Westminster Conservatory and other professional musicians from the area join the orchestra at its final pre-performance rehearsals and assist at the concert.

The concert June 11 will include exceprts from Gluck's Iphigenio in Aulis, Donizetti's

Openings Are Available In Trinity Church Choirs

Vacancies are now being filled in the boys' choir of Trinity Church, which has the reputation of being one of the finest Episcopal boy choirs in the country. There is also one vacancy each for a professional tenor, bass and male alto in Trinity's Men, Boys and Girls choir.

Ten boys from the Trinity choir have been invited to sing in the June Opera production of Britten's Midsummer Night's Dream next month. Two boys were featured in the starring role of Amahl in Menotti's opera Amahl and the Night Visitors last Christmas, and two more have been invited to sing in a special choir in New York this summer, which will be directed by Stephen Cleobury, director of music of King's College choir, Cambridge, England.

The choir of men and boys has a busy schedule lined up for next season, including singing visits to New York, Philadelphia, and the National Cathedral in Washington, D.C. John Bertalot is director.

Parents of boys 8 to 11 years old and men who may be interested in the music program at Trinity Church should call Mr. Bertalot at the church office, 924-2277.

Pianist George Winston Is Coming to McCarter

McCarter Theatre will present a concert by pianist George Winston Monday, June 20, at 8.

Mr. Winston is one of the most popular and influential figures in popular contemporary music, and one whom McCarter has been trying to entice into coming to Princeton for several years. His albums, Autumn, Winter Into Spring and December are particularly well-known.

In 1971, as a teenager, Mr. Winston began working on his own brand of instrumental music for solo piano, putting together songs of his own and arranging works by others. Today he plays mainly blues and rock and rhythm and blues standards, and the slow melodic songs that are his signature works. The clear tones and rolling melodies of his music express his personal appreciation for the wonders of nature and the universe.

As is customary at his engagements, Mr. Winston will contribute part of his earnings to a hunger organization — in this case, SHARE (Self Help And Resource Exchange), a Trenton-based organization that provides assistance to people in need. He invites members of the audience to join him by making a contribution of wholesome packaged food at the concert.

Tickets range in price from $16 to $25 and are available by calling the box office at 683-8000.

Sixth Season Scheduled Of Met Opera Outings

For the past five years, the Westminster Conservatory's Opera Outings program has been sponsoring trips to Saturday matinee performances at the Metropolitan Opera in New York City.

The 1988-89 series will begin with Das Rheingold conducted by Maestro James Levine, fol lowed by Il Barbiere di Siviglio with Kathleen Battle. The series will continue with Bizet's Carmen, with Placido Domingo and Marilyn Horne, Mozart's Le Nozze di Figaro and Donizetti's Lucia di Lammermoor. A new production of Strauss' Salome with Eva Marton will follow with Luciano Pavarotti concluding the series in Donizetti's L'Elisir D'Amore.

Two fall excursions to matinee performances at the New York City Opera are also scheduled. Orchestra seats for La Traviata on September 24, and Boito's Mefistofele on October 15 are now on sale. Tickets are also available for the April 22, 1989 performance of Stravinsky's Symphony of Psalms with the New Jersey Symphony and the Westminster Symphonic Choir.

Summer Session to Begin At Princeton Art Ass'n

Princeton Art Association's summer semester will begin June 5, with offerings for children and adults, beginners and advanced students. Registration is now open.

Art Camp, a program for children ages 7 to 11, will be taught again this year by Eva Kaplan. Children may take one or all of the week-long segments offered in painting, drawing, sculpture and multi-media. This program begins June 20.

For young people ages 12 and up, Cynthia Nelissen will teach an art workshop. As with Art Camp, students will come every day for one week and may take one or more segments. Each week centers on a different area, including painting, drawing and multi-media.

PAA will offer its regular schedule of classes in all media for adults and high school students with experience. Art Interchange is a one-day course for artists to help them better understand their own work through the critique and discussion process. Barbara Osterman, instructor for the class, has given this program at the Abington Art Center, Moore College of Art, and at conferences throughout the world.

Jean Lindabury's landscape drawing workshop will meet daily for one week beginning June 20. Ms. Lindabury will also teach beginning and continuing drawing. Linda Lombardi's watercolor landscape workshop is a one-week course starting June 27. She will also teach a Tuesday evening course that will include one Saturday session in landscape.

Students taking painting with a new PAA instructor, Heidi Cheris, will also have the opportunity to work on landscape in oil, as well as still life and painting from individual ideas and sketches.

Figure sculpture, pastel, figure drawing, life workshops and figure watercolor workshop are some of the courses in which students will work from a model. A special offering in life work this summer is a portrait sculpture class on Wednesday evenings in June, taught by Steve Weiss. Students will build a simple armature, make a portrait head in clay, and learn how to cast the head using a waste-mold and plaster-pour.

Another instructor new to PAA's roster is Michael G. Madigan. He will teach a painting class for beginners and intermediate-level students, with a particular emphasis on the use of acrylics. The July session will include two sessions with a model.

For a brochure and information on how to register, call or visit PAA, 45 Stockton Street, 921-9173.

County Artists' Exhibition Opens at Mercer College

The 15th annual Mercer County Artists' Juried Exhibition will open Friday in the Library Gallery on Mercer County Community College's West Windsor campus. The opening reception and awards presentation, which is free and open to the public, will be held from 5 to 7.

Philadelphia Inquirer art critic Victoria Donohoe and New Jersey artist Reginald Neal selected this year's show of 69 works, and awarded six prizes.

Deirdre McGrail of Hopewell received the show's top honor, the Juror's Merit Award, for her oil and sand painting, Lady in a Blue Dress. The five works that received Honorable Mention awards include an untitled acrylic painting by Gilda Aronovic of Princeton; Color Headroom, a geometric serigraph by Paul Giancola of Plainsboro; Exodus, a bronze sculpture by Mike Gyampo of Trenton; Painting 112787, a nonobjective acrylic on shaped canvas by Michael Madigan of Ewing Township; and Skylights II, a computer-generated inkjet print by Ruane Miller of Princeton.

The Mercer County Cultural and Heritage Commission chose to add four works to the Mercer County Art Collection by honoring the artists with Purchase Awards. These include a woodcut entitled Toi Khong Hoi? by Jonathan Gaffin of Hopewell; a stoneware vase by Marsha Dowshen of Bordentown; Thoughts on Mattise, an oil painting by Ingeburg Wurzler of Princeton; and Miller's Skylights II, the WEAVING IN WIRE: Artist Leonora Florian Barnard uses the West African technique of "looping" to weave colorful, vinyl-coated wire into sculptural forms, such as this geometric piece titled "Three Plus One." Ms. Barnard's work will be on view in the "Industrial Fibers in Art" exhibition at AT&T through June 8.

The show was open to all artists 18 years or older who live, work or attend school in Mercer County.

The exhibition is sponsored annually by Mercer County Community College and the Mercer County Cultural and Heritage Commission. It will remain on view in the gallery through July 15, and an illustrated catalog will be available.

For more information, call exhibition coordinator Randal Salewski at 586-4800, extension 588.

Residents Are Finalists In State Competition

Sharon and Lawrence Tarantino, 58 Cleveland Lane, are among seven finalists in the competition to design the State's Vietnam War Memorial. Their design was selected from among 425 entries in the statewide competition run by Arts.

According to Thomas Moran, the visual arts coordinator for the Council, the Tarantino entry is a quarter circle, a curved wall, which actually mirrors the site.

The design includes a large, convex wall rising from the curve of the hillside at the site. The wall, 200 feet long and 15 feet high, would be perforated with 1,500 stars, each to be inscribed with the name of a State resident killed, missing or taken prisoner during the war. The wall would be illuminated at night.

The memorial will be built on a 5½-acre site next to the Garden State Arts Center in Holmdel.

On June 24, a panel will review the seven final entries. The winner, whose name will be announced during the July 4 weekend, will receive a cash award of $5,000. The second- and third-place finishers will received $2,500 each.

"Japanese Art Today," an exhibition of works from the Wise Collection, will be on view at United Jersey Bank headquarters, Carnegie Center, weekdays through June 28.

Curated by Gary Snyder of Princeton Gallery of Fine Art, the show features the work of six contemporary Japanese artists in a variety of media, including sculpture in wood, printmaking, and brush and ink on paper.

"Works on Paper and Stone," featuring the sculpture of Blaise Batko and the prints of Minna Kirzenbaum, will be on exhibit from June 11 to July 20 at AT&T's Corporate Education Center, Carter Road, Hopewell. The public is invited to an opening reception from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. on June 16.

Mr. Batko sculpts primarily in alabaster, creating realistic images of all types of sweets. Mrs. Kirzenbaum's work consists mainly of monotype with collage.

A reception to mark the opening of an exhibition of paintings and drawings by New York artist Andrew Pellettieri will be held Sunday from 2 to 5 at the University League Gallery, 171 Broadmead. The exhibit will run through July 1.

After receiving a B.F.A. degree from the State University College at Plattsburgh, N.Y., Mr. Pellettieri studied at the Art Students League. His landscapes are included in corporate as well as gallery collections.

Shown in this exhbition will be new paintings on the subject of baseball.

Sheila Nussbaum Gallery, at the Princeton Shopping Center, will present "A Gift of Art," featuring gallery artists through July 11.

The gallery will spotlight affordable gifts suitable for Father's Day, graduation, engagements and weddings. These will include jewelry, ceramics, glass, pewter and wood at prices beginning at $15 dollars. Gift wrapping is available free of charge, and the gallery will ship purchases, if desired.

———

"Miracle Cap," an exhibit by ceramic artist Mayumi Konishi and photographer Asami Hasegawa, are on display at the Gallery/Offices of Andrew M. Sheldon, Architect, 14 Nassau Street. The works will remain on view weekdays through June 24.

Having won recognition as promising artists in Tokyo, the two Princeton residents will make their United States debut with this exhibit.

After studying ceramics and the art of porcelain doll making in Los Angeles, Ms. Konishi concentrated on the unique method of applying a porcelain glaze to lacework. The extremely fragile and delicate process is used to its fullest extent in elaborate doll skirts and dresses. For the past few years Mr. Hasegawa has been Ms. Konishi's principal photographer.

The Mary Jacobs Library in Rocky Hill will present an exhibit of photographs and monotypes by Robin Treadwell through June 30. On display will be her photographic tribute, "Rural Montgomery: A Disappearing Scene," as shown recently at May in Montgomery. In addition, a selection of her monotypes in various mediums may be viewed.

Mrs. Treadwell received training in art in her native England, where she taught art to elementary-age children. She has studied here with Elizabeth Monath, Marie Sturken and Diana Gonzales-Godolfi. Her work has appeared in shows at Applied Data Research, the Unitarian Church, the Centre for Medical Affairs in West Windsor and in the Cheltenham Art Gallery in England.

This exhibit is free and open to the public. For further information call the library at 924-7073.

Claw & Ball Wing Chair
Philadelphia
Circa 1765 to 1775

Philadelphia during the Eighteenth Century developed a unique school of cabinetmaking. Utilizing Chippendale motifs, the Philadelphia artisan strove to create as opulent a piece of furniture as possible through the use of ornate carving. The high style carving on the knees and feet of this chair, combined with a boldly raking back leg and heavily rolled arms, underlines the success of the Philadelphia craftsmen.

Solid Honduras mahoghany is an integral part of the beauty of each reproduction. The depth and clarity of the authentic finish is achieved at Southwood by repeated hand rubbing and waxing in the manner of the Eighteenth Century master cabinetmaker. The softness of the English down seat cushion provides deep seating comfort, an asset not available to our forefathers.

Crossroads

in the world map to show the countries they came from, and teachers encourage parents to share their ethnic ways of celebrating holidays. A Rwandan mother may bring African drums and a sweet potato dish to share, while a Russian mother shows the children her puppets.

The teachers themselves are remarkably diverse in the number of languages they speak, either fluently or in part, and they are able to help those children who arrive knowing no English become absorbed into the group. They also say these children pick up English as naturally as they learned their own language.

There is constant turnover at Crossroads, as Institute families come and go, even within the school year. Last December, the pre-kindergarten group lost one of its members to Tokyo, another to London, and still another to Saskatoon, but picked up one from Chile and another from South Africa. Last week, two left for France.

These comings and goings are talked about within the group, and from them the children learn a sense of the larger world. But it is when a black child from South Africa becomes best friends with a white child, also from South Africa, as happened this year, and the visiting, non-English-speaking Russian grandmother of one child becomes acquainted through the school with the Russian grandfather of another that the cross-cultural potential of Crossroads is wonderfully realized.

Natural Setting. There is a big emphasis on nature at Crossroads, and the school takes full advantage of its location and the fact that three of its teachers have advanced degrees in biology or chemistry. The children explore the Institute Woods in all seasons, collecting milkweek pods and leaves in the fall and watching green ferns unfurl in spring. They dig for worms by the pond, or scoop up frogs' eggs and watch the pollywogs emerge.

In May, they look for the wild strawberry blossoms in the field, and when the berries are ripe in June they spend a whole morning collecting them and making strawberry ice cream. Right now, hundreds of tiny praying mantises have hatched from the egg case they brought back to school.

In terms of live animals in residence, there is Throckmarton, the rather ancient brown rabbit, who shares a cage with Francis, a guinea pig. There is also Daisy Dyson, a white rabbit given by the Freeman Dyson family after all their children had grown up, and Gloria, another guinea pig and replacement for George, who died.

Furry creatures to fondle and learn to care for, guinea pigs and rabbits are commonplace in a nursery school. But few schools can boast a dog like Echo, Mrs. Jenkins' enormous champion Golden Retriever, whose loving disposition has helped many children overcome their fear of dogs. On the days Echo comes to school, the children dress him up in doll clothes, climb over and around him as he lies on the floor and snuggle up to him at rest time.

Parents Welcome. Crossroads welcomes parents dropping in at any time and taking part in expeditions to Howell Farm or Terhune Orchards. Parents are also encouraged to stay with their children in the early weeks of school as long as is necessary. There is a parents' meeting before school begins and parent conferences take place in the middle of the year.

Parents in each age group meet for a pot luck supper, for which everyone brings a special dish. Given the intercontinental nature of the school, the cuisine is often extraordinary. From time to time, the school also schedules a speaker on a topic of particular interest, such as whether a child with an October birthday is ready for kindergarten or should be held back another year.

At Christmas, Crossroads children spend many hours making Christmas tree ornaments to hang on the enormous Christmas tree in the Institute's Fuld Hall. On the day of the actual hanging, cider and cookies are served, and substitute members stop by to watch. Birthdays are celebrated rather simply, with each child bringing in cupcakes to share.

The school has traditionally operated in two terms of four months each, from the end of September to the end of May, and offered an optional June session. So many families signed up for the June option, which takes place almost entirely outdoors, with all three groups mixed together, that next year it will be incorporated into a new schedule of two terms of four and a half months each.

Positive Experience. Like most nursery schools, Crossroads seeks to make each child's first school experience a positive one. Learning independence and also how to get along with others are paramount. At Crossroads, there is also an emphasis on sensitivity and respect for each other and the differences of other's, according to Mrs. Jenkins.

In this academic and achievement-oriented community, Crossroads teachers are often asked what they do in terms of "reading readiness." The response is to point out that every activity, from charting the growth of an amaryllis to creating a whole community out of blocks, is building a foundation of knowledge and experience without which the printed word is meaningless.

Albert Einstein, the Institute's most famous member, is believed to have remarked that the real learning at the Institute takes place at the nursery school. That may be an apocryphal story, but the fact remains that Crossroads, in its international make-up and beautiful setting is a microcosm of the community as a whole.

Imported Clocks Featured By Hillsborough Gallery

"Initially, this was a marketing thing," explains Roeland van Dommelen, owner of the Hillsborough Clock Gallery at 254 Route 206 in Hillsborough. "I was hired to sell Dutch clocks by people in Holland. Then ten years ago, I opened my own business of importing and selling the clocks. I'm basically an importer of Dutch clocks and some from Germany, including German skeleton clocks.

"Dutch clocks are known for their hand-painted dial faces or real Delft tile faces," he continues. "They are both decorative and functional, as well as very traditional. We're the only people who have real Dutch hand-painted dials."

Born in Holland, Mr. van Dommelen has a special appreciation of these clocks and their history. "What sets us apart is that I'm an importer with the heritage of the country I'm importing from. I still have relatives there, and I'm on the phone to Holland every week.

"I feel that most people like to buy what they see," he adds. "For example, they see a lot of schoolhouse clocks so they want those. Once they have seen the Dutch clocks, they appreciate them."

The "skipper" clocks (those with hand-painted dials that are traditionally found on Dutch canal boats) and "Zaandam" clocks (with Delft tile dial faces — originally from the Zaandam district near Amsterdam) are very special. Reproductions of clocks made in the 17th century, many are adorned with symbolic ornamentation, and nearly all are weight-driven rather than key-wound.

COLLECTIBLE CLOCKS: Imported clocks from Holland are the specialty of the Hillsborough Clock Gallery, located at 254 Route 206 in Hillsborough. "We sell to clock shops and individuals and also have a mail order business as well as a big repair service," note clock repair specialist Andrew Peters and owner Roeland van Dommelen.

"During Holland's Golden Age, scientist Christian Huygens invented the clock pendulum and weight system," explains Mr. van Dommelen, "and then the English came and adapted the Dutch weight-driven clocks into free-standing grandfather clocks. The original Dutch clocks are really just smaller, wall-hanging grandfather clocks. Also, many of them have working moon dials which specifically identify the day of the moon cycle."

Skeleton Clocks. German skeleton clocks, which have their inner workings revealed, are also available at the Hillsborough Gallery. "I've always been intrigued with the skeleton clocks," says Mr. van Dommelen. "People like to watch the movement, and they can see how to set up and regulate their clock by seeing the actual mechanism. These are German-made reproductions of English skeleton clocks of the Victorian era."

The gallery also carries a variety of other types of clocks, including small English quartz desk clocks with reproductions of hand-painted clock faces of the 19th century. There are some grandfather clocks, Tambour mantel clocks, kitchen clocks, fun "jumper" clocks for kids (small figures move up and down as the clock ticks), and a selection of Bulova clocks with quartz movements, as well as a number of modern clocks "which are very appropriate for the corporate office market," says Mr. van Dommelen. "They have a very contemporary look."

Repair work is also a large part of the gallery's business. "We do all repairs, from cuckoo clocks to grandfathers, as well as watches," reports Mr. van Dommelen. "Andrew Peters, head of the service department, does everything from simple maintenance to rebuilding the movements. Oiling, cleaning, fixing bushings, everything. We have a full facility for all cleaning, gear making and adjustments.

"We've just started to advertise our repair service," he adds, "and we're already getting a big referral business. Our biggest interest is in building the repair business into as large an operation as possible. Since we opened our store here, many customers have been digging in their attics and bringing in old favorites to be fixed."

Factory Prices. The Hillsborough Gallery is noted for its wholesale prices, says Mr. van Dommelen. "We are an outlet, and I have factory prices for everything. I try to give people a good deal and be fair. Although we emphasize imported clocks, we also offer American clocks. If people order from the American-based catalogue, they will get 40% off the retail price. We've just started to advertise our repair service," he adds, "and we're already getting a big referral business. Our biggest interest is in building the repair business into as large an operation as possible. Since we opened our store here, many customers have been digging in their attics and bringing in old favorites to be fixed."

Small clocks start as low as $9; the English reproduction quartz desk clocks are $16, Delft tile "Zaandam" clocks are $176 and the hand-painted moon dial "skipper" clocks, $325. A reproduction of the original Frisian chair clock is available at the very special price of $1500 (normally $2700).

"In addition," remarks Mr. van Dommelen, "we're offering a gift promotion of a traditional Speculaars Dutch wooden kitchen clock for $27.

He adds that he enjoys the

Array of Handmade Gifts Highlights Hobby Barn

"This is a different place to shop than the malls," says Anne Dennehy, co-owner of Hobby Barn at One Park Place in Cranbury. "Variety is a big thing here, and we do a lot of custom work for people if they want something personalized or made to order.

"Also," she continues, "another thing that makes us unique is that since everything is on consignment, we are an outlet for people's creativity. We keep the quality level up, and because we have a big variety, we don't have crafters competing with each other."

Mrs. Dennehy has owned Hobby Barn for nine years, and her partner, Pat Rosta, joined the operation last January. "This is a growing area," comments Mrs. Dennehy. "There were very few shops when I first came. Now, there are a lot. We are very busy with customers. And it's nice for people who work in the companies to have a chance to come and walk around the village.

"There are two things about Cranbury," she adds. "One, the local people who shop here and two, the visitors on weekends. It really varies. Some regular customers we see once a year when they come in at Christmastime and other customers we don't even see. They just call and we send their order."

An assortment of charming, handmade items fills the small, cozy shop. "We are small and have a space problem," notes Mrs. Dennehy. "We try to offer what we think will sell and what fits into this barn."

Dogs and toy animals of all descriptions, from Raggedy Ann and Andy to small fabric cats, camels and kangaroos, to the entire Winnie-the-Pooh crowd are on display, as are quilted pillows, small counted cross-stitch pillows, wall hangings, dried wreaths, 100% cotton calico fabric and poly-filled batting. There is a range of baby gifts, including washable baby clutch balls in Princeton orange and black, as well as other colors ("with lots of nooks and crannies to put fingers in"), adorable crib elephants, and knitted booties and sweaters.

HANDMADE ORIGINALS: "Everything is handmade at our shop. That really makes us special, and it means the inventory is always changing," note Hobby Barn owners Pat Rosta and Anne Dennehy. The Cranbury shop is known for a variety of items, including English smocked clothes, quilted pillows, dolls, fabric and assorted baby and house gifts.

Baby Boom. "Baby items are a year-round best seller," reports Mrs. Dennehy. "There is really a baby boom. We have all kinds of baby things and lots of dolls from different doll makers. Shirleybelle dolls are very popular, for example. They're made of fabric and each one is different. We also have the award-winning Maudy doll. It was honored at the Alaska and Utah state fairs."

Children's aprons that can be embroidered with the child's name are also available, as are sock babies and little pigs and lambs. "Pigs and lambs seem to have replaced ducks in popularity now," says Mrs. Dennehy, "and cats and mice are always popular.

"Stick horses are another big item, and you don't find these all over," she continues. "We also have a variety of bright, colorful bracelets for little girls, starting at 80 cents. Bracelets for older girls are $2.50."

Notecards are also popular, she reports, and the shop carries a variety, including a selection made with pressed flowers.

Prices run the gamut at the shop, from $1.50 for sock babies up to $125 for collector dolls. Rolled beeswax candles are $2, and quilts go up to $300. Small soft animals are $5, and Raggedy Ann and Andy, $15 to $35.

Stenciled pillows are $20 and the Winnie-the-Pooh set of animals is $80. They can also be purchased separately at different prices. Pooh alone is $20.

Gift certificates are also available.

Both Mrs. Dennehy and Mrs. Rosta enjoy the contact with customers, many of whom really become friends. "The people who come in are a real study in humanity," says Mrs. Rosta. "The nice thing about working in the town where you live is that your friends come in and you get a chance to talk."

Hobby Barn is open Tuesday through Saturday 10 to 4, Thursday 10 to 6 and Sunday 12 to 4.

Design Forum

Eileen B. Saums, Associate A.S.I.D., Interior Designer, speaks on Why You Don't Have To Use "Major" Centers of Interest.

An old theory in furnishing was that rooms had to be decorated around some big center of interest such as a picture window, a fireplace or a large sofa, etc. But, actually, you can use a center of interest that includes none of these major items.

One thought would be two love seats, or two chairs, and a table in a setting with an area rug and special lighting making it a successful "decorative island".

Or, you could use a long, low buffet accessorized with a lamp and pictures for an outstanding center of interest.

If you like books, you might consider having not one, but two or more bookcases or cabinets full of books as a center of interest.

Sometimes a surprise element can add a wonderful center of interest such as a distinctive piece of furniture, outstanding in its own right, and placed in an eye-catching area.

There are many pieces of furniture and decorating ideas that can be used to add a different center of interest to a room — and make a room more appealing and more beautiful. If you'd like to explore this further, why not stop in and look around here. We'll be happy to see you, and you can browse to your heart's content.

We are having a SALE on our existing furniture and accessories. Stop in while there is still a nice selection.

Tigers Place 5 Players On All-Region Softball

Despite being overlooked for the NCAA tournament, the Princeton softball team received a boost with the announcement of the All-Northeast Region team. Five Tigers earned spots on the squad, the most ever in the program's history, while Princeton coach Cindy Cohen was elected the region's coach of the year by vote of her fellow coaches.

Outfielder Linda Smolka, pitcher Dawn Roberts and second baseman Karen Malm earned the first team slots, while shortstop Chris Stuppi and utility/DH Angela Tucci were selected to the second team.

Since her arrival, Cohen has led the Tigers to national recognition. Last season, Princeton was selected to play in the National Invitational Championship tournament. For the first time ever, the Tigers received votes in an NCAA top 20 poll. Cohen has guided Princeton to its highest regional ranking, number two behind Adelphi.

Smolka is one of the best pure hitters in the program's seven-year history. The junior owned a .442 batting average while hitting seven homers and driving in 48 runs in 1988. She also owned a .679 slugging percentage and a .443 on-base percentage, both team highs. Smolka holds the University record for career homers (18), career extra base hits (54) and extra base hits in a season (24), and places second in career hits (162) and career RBIs (106).

8 Shutouts and a No-Hitter. One of the most pleasant surprises to Princeton fans was the development of Roberts. She struck out 108 batters, tying the school standard, in 104.3 innings. The freshman won 13 games while losing only three. She recorded eight shutouts and an all-time low 0.54 ERA. Her season highlights include a no-hitter against Villanova (only the fourth in Princeton history) and 16 strikeouts versus LaSalle University.

After three seasons of anonymity, Malm hurst into the headlines with her best offensive season. The senior co-captain ripped a school record 19 doubles, placing her first on the all-time list with 32. She finished the year with a .344 batting average and a .421 on-base percentage. Malm also sports one of the best gloves among the Tiger nine. She made six errors in 201 chances (.970 fielding percentage) and helped turn 10 double plays.

The other player in the twin killing tandem is shortstop Chris Stuppi. The sophomore also turned 10 double plays and had a .955 fielding percentage. She also broke her own school record with 129 assists this year, five more than last season's total. From the plate, Stuppi enjoyed a school-record 27-game hitting streak in which she batted .420. She finished the 1988 campaign with a .331 batting average, 57 hits, 27 RBIs and a .400 on-base percentage.

Despite suffering a shoulder ailment, Tucci still proved she was the Tigers' top hurler. The co-captain won 10 of 11 decisions, registering a career-low 0.76 ERA. She threw eight shutouts for the second time in her career and completed nine games. She also saw time at first base and third base this season. Tucci owns 11 pitching records, including career no-hitters (two), career wins (52) and career strikeouts (287). From the batter's box, Tucci hit .367 this year with 29 RBIs, ten doubles and five game-winning hits. She owns the records for career hits (189), career RBIs (109) and career runs scored (109).

All Ivy Honors Also. Tucci and Roberts not only joined four teammates as first team selections on the All-Ivy League squads but also won the Ancient Eight's top softball awards. Tucci received the Player of the Year prize while Roberts garnered the Rookie of the Year trophy by vote of the League's coaches.

Joining Tucci and Roberts on the first team were Linda Smolka, Michelle Moody; Malm and Stuppi.

NICK LESCHLY STILL PERFECT: Although Princeton High was eliminated from the Central Jersey State tournament last week by Holmdel, PHS sophomore Nick Leschly won his number one singles match to remain unbeaten this yeer at 20-0.

PHS Netmen Eliminated From CJ State Tourney

Playing without its top player, Stig Leschly, the Princeton High Tennis team was eliminated last week by Holmdel from the second round of the NJSIAA Central Jersey Tournament.

Seeded second and the defending Central Jersey champion, PHS was ousted, 3-2, by Holmdel. Sophomore Nick Leschly, who has replaed his older brother for most of the second half of the season at the number one singles, won his match, 6-2, 6-4, to improve his record to a perfect 20-0. Princeton's only other point came at the number one doubles which was won by Marc Glogoff and David Williams.

The Little Tigers have regular season matches left with Hopewell, West Windsor, Ewing, Montgomery and McCorristin before ending their season.

PDS Tennis Is Second In Prep B Tournament

Led by a first place finish by Scott Newhall, the Princeton Day tennis team finished second in the Prep B Tennis Tournament last week at the Pingry School.

Newark Academy, which beat PDS, 4-1, during the regular season, claimed the championship with 14 points to 11 for PDS. Montclair Kimberley was third with 10, Morristown Beard, fourth with 6; and Dwight Englewood and Pennington tied for fifth with 5.

Scott Newhall defeated Newark's John Agresti, 6-4, 6-4, in the finals. However, his older brother, Reed, who had not lost a match all season, was upset by Newark's David Sussman, 6-4, 6-4. He had defeated Sussman at PDS in April. Jivan Datta, also made it to the finals, but lost a third-set tiebreaker to Newark's Kevin Schultze, 7-2. Schultze won the first set 6-1, but Datta rebounded to take the second, 6-4.

In first doubles, the Panthers and the Minute Men again met in the finals, with Newark emerging victorious. Adam Miller and John Greenberg defeated PDS' Mark Collins and David Ragsdale, 6-1, 1-6, 6-3.

Here's a surprising fact .. Most of the greatest players in baseball history were NOT kept by their original teams, but were traded during their big league careers .. For example, the player with the highest lifetime batting average, Ty Cobb, was traded from the Tigers to the A's ... The top home run hitter, Hank Aaron, was traded from the Braves to the Brewers ... The winningest pitcher, Cy Young, was traded from the Cards to the Red Sox to the Indians .. The great Willie Mays was traded from the Giants to the Mets .. The great Babe Ruth was traded from the Red Sox to the Yankees And so it goes

Did you know that no big league baseball player has been able to win the Triple Crown (leading the league in batting average, homers and runs batted it) in any season in 20 years ... Last man to do it was Carl Yastrzemski in 1967.

HARD TAG NO. 2: This is the second of three successive pick-off attempts at first base by Montgomery pitcher Mike D'Allegro to nail Princeton High's Andy Petrone. Each time, Cougar first baseman Robb Ryba brought his glove down hard on Petrone's helmet. The third time Petrone jumped up and directed a few chosen expletives at Ryba, warning him if he did that one more time, he could start looking for his head. PHS won, 5-1, to break a 16-game losing streak.

gomery, 5-1, for its first win since the season opener. In between, the Little Tigers, playing the entire season without a home field, had lost 16 in a row.

How did it feel to walk off the field a winner? "It feels real good," said assistant coach Tom Poetter, filling in for Ed Beacham. "It feels real good to put together a game where the players make all the plays and we get clutch hits. We haven't been doing that all year.

"We got some good pitching from Luis (Estrada), who limited them to three hits and a good game from Russ Levine behind the plate. Then we got those two insurance runs in the sixth with two out where Levine had that perfect bunt and DiDonato came through with a hit."

The outcome, however, did not sit well with Montgomery coach Matt Sheban. The first-year coach blasted his players after the game. "Where was all that fight and fire when the game began? I'm furious about the last inning; everybody swinging at first strikes. You lost to the worst team you're going to play all year."

PHS will end its season by playing three makeup games in three days next week — weather permitting. This Wednesday it will be at McCorristin, at Ewing Thursday and at Hightstown on Friday.

4 Up, 3 Down. Estrada was unruffled as PHS, playing as the home team on the Cougars' field secreted in the woods, was three outs away from victory. The stocky sophomore struck out Kevin Best, surrendered a single to left center by pitcher Mike D'Allegro for the Cougars' third hit, but then got Kyle Caropreso on a foul pop to Lou Lucullo at first. When Bryce Kucks was thrown out by third baseman Andy Petrone, it was time for high fives for the Little Tigers.

PHS had scored one run in the third but Montgomery tied it in the third when it bunched its first two hits. In the fourth, Blankstein knocked in the winning run when he homered, scoring Andy Petrone, who had gotten on by a fielder's choice, ahead of him.

In the sixth, PHS combined an error, a textbook bunt by Levine that hugged the line and advanced Tim Middleton, and DiDonato's line single over first for one run and a double steal that sent pinch-runner Chris Kagay home with the Blue and White's final run.

Andy Petrone and Scott Petrone each had two hits for PHS. The win was Estrada's first after four losses. The loss was the 16th in 19 games for the Cougars, who went 0-23 last year. It also marked the last meeting between the two schools: Montgomery will drop out of the Colonial Valley Conference next year.

Loss to Lawrence. Earlier in the week, PHS dropped a 3-1 decision to Lawrence, as winning pitcher Keith Williams (5-3) limited PHS to seven scattered hits — three by losing pitcher Bob Blankstein.

Three Cardinal players, Mike Klim, Jerry Dismukes and Adam Warchulak, each connected for a pair of hits off Blankstein as Lawrence scored single runs in the second, fourth and fifth innings for its eighth win.

Neas Is the Top Miler In CJ Group Two Meet

Princeton High's Jerod Neas won the 1600 meter event Saturday in the NJSIAA Central Jersey Group 2 meet held at South Plainfield. The PHS junior, who owns the Mercer County standard of 4:29.4 in the event, passed Bernards' Dave Klous in the stretch to win by 1.2 seconds in 4:30.4.

Teammate Wagner Marseille was nipped by one second in finishing second in the 110 hurdles in 14.6. Marseille also jumped 19-5 to finish fifth in the long jump and Princeton's John Rogerson was third in the 3200 with a time of 9:53.9. The Little Tigers were fifth in the 4x400 relay.

The top five finishers in each event and the top five relay teams will advance to this weekend's NJSIAA State Group Championship Meet which will be held Friday and Saturday at South Plainfield.

PHS finished fifth in the Group 2 team standings with 17 points. Monmouth won the team title with 46½ points.

In all, 33 individual performers and four relay teams from Mercer County have advanced to the State meet.

Tignor First in 3200. In the NJSIAA Group 2 girls' competition held at East Brunswick High on Saturday, Princeton's standout distance runner, Sandra Tignor, won the 3200 in 10:42 — tops among all Mercer County runners this year. Her time was only a tenth of a second off the all-time County standard of 10:41.9 set 12 years ago by Hillary Noden of Hopewell Valley.

Tignor played a major role in helping PHS finish third in the team standings by coming in second in the 1600 to teammate Karin Swartz. Swartz was timed in 5:07.5, Tignor in 5:08.5

The two, who have been rivals for the past two years, reversed roles in the 3200, with Swartz finishing second to Tignor with a clocking in that event of 11:26.

Princeton's Rachel Spear won the 400 hurdles in 64.4 She had placed second in the event last year when PHS competed in Group 3. Teammate Felicia Lewis was fifth in the 100 meters in 12.9 and fifth in the long jump with a leap of 16-9. Cathy Willard finished fourth in the 800 with a time of 2:23.8.

Monmouth Regional won the Group 2 team title with 51 points. South Plainfield was second and PHS third, a half-point behind.

The top five finishers in each event at East Brunswick have qualified for the all-Groups State Meet this weekend at South Plainfield.

Shawnee Is Too Fast; Ousts PHS from Tourney

It's all over for the Princeton High girls' lacrosse team — over sooner than the the Blue and White had hoped.

Visiting Shawnee raced to a 4-0 lead last week and went on to defeat Princeton High, 16-11, in the second round of the State lacrosse tournament. PHS was seeded fourth, Shawnee fifth. Had PHS won, it would have advanced to a meeting with top-seeded Moorestown early this week.

"Something was missing today" said PHS coach Joyce Jones after the game. One thing that was certainly missing on the part of the Little Tigers was speed to match that of the Renegades. Early on, Shawnee repeatedly lifted the ball over the heads of PHS defenders to set up fast break situations. The visitors scored on four to take a quick 4-0 lead, and although the Little Tigers twice fought back to within two goals at 8-6 and 9-7, Shawnee was continually able to answer any PHS rally in kind.

TEVEBAUGH DRAWS A CROWD: Anne Tevebaugh of PHS — in white shirt — attracts a pair of Shawnee defenders as she advances the ball upfield in Friday's 16 to 11 loss to Shawnee.

The game was played before a large hometown crowd in perfect weather. Doubtlessly remembering last year when visiting PHS had defeated them, 8-6, in the same round of competition, the Renegades were the better team this time at Princeton's Riverside School field. They outshot PHS 27-15, en route to their 14th victory against two losses and a tie. PHS suffered its third loss in thirteen games.

With the loss, PHS also finished second behind Montville in the newly formed Garden State League.

Throughout the game, Jones stalked the sidelines in front of the Little Tiger bench, trying to find a way to stop the charging Shawnee players. "Our ground game was not as sharp as it could be," she said. "When the ball was on the ground and we had the chance to own it we didn't come up with it."

Shawnee coach Sue Ruddderow, who also recalled last year's outcome between the two teams, commented, "We like to play a contain game. We try to take advantage of the other team's mistakes." She noted that her team scored five goals that originated from poor PHS passes.

Four players accounted for all the Little Tiger scoring. Kristy Collins had four goals, Liz Hewson three and Maria Tucker and Silvana Nazzarro two each. Goalie Suzanne Maman had 14 saves.

Three days earlier, PHS had defeated 13th-seeded Summit, 8-4, in the first round, while Shawnee was routing Rancocas Valley, 19-12.

The game with visiting Summit (5-6-3) was scoreless for the first 11:35 before Summit scored. Hewson tied the score less than a minute later and put the Little Tigers ahead to stay with her second goal.

Hewson ended with three goals. Five other Little Tigers also scored: Nazzaro, Collins, Tucker, Anne Tevebaugh and Jen Causing.

The PHS defense, led by Jenny Brassell, Martha Parsons and Jenny Kim, limited Summit to one goal in the second half.

Seniors on the PHS team are Kim, Hewson, Cricket Jacobs, Nazzaro, Mamon, Tucker, Tevebaugh, Parson, Causing, Mayrav Lavid and Laura Vanden Heuvel.

Princeton-based Steve Ficarro's Auto Body women's softball team got back on track last week with two wins against stong opposition, defeating Grove Plumbing, 4-2, and Miller Lite, 6-3. The victories kept Ficarro's in a first place tie with Three Seasons, with 9-1 records, in the Mercer County Women's League.

This week, Ficarro's takes on Eagle Electric on Thursday at 6:30 on Mercer County Park's Field 3.

In the game against Grove, Grove had the lead, 2-0, after five innings. Ficarro's Dee Vertucci led off at the top of the sixth with a single, Cheryl Silva reached base on an error and was replaced by pinch runner Robyn Hart, and Clare Baxter singled to load the bases. Cindy Lombardo (3-for-3 overall) tripled, driving in three runs, and then was driven in by Grace Durland. Baxter was the winning pitcher, allowing just four hits.

Against Miller, Ficarro's banged out 18 hits, led be Cee Aerstin (3-for-3), Doreen Ragazzo (3-for-4), Dee Discavage, Judi Grisham and Baxter (each 2-for-3), and Lombardo and Durland (each 2-for-4). Baxter was again the winning pitcher. Debbie Smyth had a good game at shortstop, where she had a hand in eight of the team's 21 outs.
